Cites Loss in Freight Revenues

Penn Central To Abandon Area Line

BY CARL GRAHAM

KINGSTON

The Penn Central Railroad has filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission a plan to abandon the 83-mile Catskill Mountain Branch line running northwest from Kingston into Delaware and Schoharie counties.

"We have no choice," a public relations spokesman in New York City said when asked to confirm the move.

He said that revenues from the line, which handles only freight, were below the cost of providing service and "there are no real prospects for future traffic development."

He quoted Penn Central records for car loadings and gross tonnage for the past three years as support for the railroad's position. Records for 1969 show that 1,310 cars were handled on the branch line with a gross weight of 54,550 tons. In 1970 the figures declined to 1,098 cars and 44,925 tons, and in 1971 the figures were 950 cars and 38,228 tons, he said.

He said that progressive deterioration of the railroad's right-of-way makes continued use of the line impossible without "prompt and extensive" restoration work.

Special

"Major repair work on the (Catskill Mountain) branch has been deferred because it has become increasingly clear during recent years that abandonment of the line would become inevitable as the demand for rail service in this area diminishes," the spokesman said.

Railroad officials have estimated that restoration and renewal work would cost an initial $1,134,240, an average of $13,600 per mile of roadbed.

The move is expected to generate determined opposition by the towns affected. A previous attempt to abandon the line, announced in October, 1971, brought strong protests from Ulster County officials and supervisors of the five towns serviced by the branch.

Raymond J. Dunn, Shandaken supervisor, said the proposed abandonment would be the principal topic at Wednesday night's town board meeting in Allaben. Dunn said he was contacting the supervisors of other towns in Ulster and Delaware counties to begin a concerted program of action to oppose the move.

Opponents have until August 12 to file protests with the ICC. No public hearing will be held unless protests are received "indicating a need for such hearings."

Loss of revenue from railroad taxes would be a severe blow in most cases and would force the towns to take a new look at their budgets, officials predicted. Dunn said that Shandaken now receives $61,000 in taxes from the branch line.

The branch line extends from Kingston through the Ulster County towns of Ulster, Kingston, Hurley, Olive and Shandaken into Delaware County and terminates 83.6 miles away at Bloomville in Schoharie County. It serves a large dairy farming area in Schoharie County, a mixed farming, lumbering and light manufacturing area in Delaware County, and a resort area in Ulster County.

At one time the line connected with the Delaware and Hudson Railroad at Oneonta, but the line from Bloomburg to Oneonta was abandoned several years ago. A branch line from Phoenicia north into Greene County was also abandoned, forcing Greene County freight users to use the Phoenicia siding as a loading point for transshipment by truck.

Present users of the line would have several alternatives, the railroad spokesman said, including use of D. & H. facilities in Oneonta. They could also use Penn Central's trailvan "piggyback" operation that uses flatcars to haul loaded trailers across country to railheads for eventual delivery by truck. He also noted that the railroad has "team track" facilities in Kingston where rail cars are shifted onto sidings that put them at ground level, permitting truckers to load from the cars without special handling.

Eight Possible Nominees For Vice President Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — The search for a new Democratic vice-presidential candidate centers on eight men following Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton's precedent-setting withdrawal from the ticket.

Unable to convince presidential candidate George McGovern that the issue of Eagleton's history as a psychiatric patient would go away, the Missouri senator sadly stepped down Monday night and cleared the way for McGovern to look for a new running-mate.

Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, former Democratic National Committee Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine head most speculators' lists of likely replacements for Eagleton, who became the first man in American history to give up a major party's nomination for vice president.

But Florida Gov. Reubin Askew, R. Sargent Shriver, former director of the Peace Corps, and McGovern's close Senate friends Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut and Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin are also major possibilities.

And in Atlanta, Georgia State Rep. Julian Bond, a leader in the "Blacks for McGovern" campaign, quoted a high-placed McGovern aide as saying Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter is being considered to replace Eagleton.

McGovern's first choice to fill the vacancy may still be Edward M. Kennedy. The Massachusetts senator has steadfastly disavowed any interest in running for national office this year.

But, following Eagleton's dramatic withdrawal Monday, McGovern could well go to Kennedy and argue that his chances have been damaged by the Eagleton affair and only a Kennedy on the ticket could preserve the Democrats' chances of beating President Nixon in November.

McGovern has promised to make his preference known within a few days and conceivably could do it on a nationwide television broadcast he has scheduled tonight. However, McGovern aides say he will "talk about the campaign" and not discuss a replacement for Eagleton.

Whomever McGovern selcts will require approval of the newly constituted 303-member Democratic National Committee.

Eagleton went before the hot lights of a Monday night news conference to grimly announce he was withdrawing his candidacy.

"My personal feelings are secondary to the necessity to unify the Democratic party and elect George McGovern," the Missouri senator said.

He added later that he and McGovern reached the historic occasion jointly "so as not to further divide the party that is already too much divided."

Democratic office - holders were slow to react to Eagleton's withdrawal.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he was sorry at the turn of events but called it a "decision that had to be made." He reiterated his faith in Eagleton.

O'Brien, who is enlisting support of old-line Democrats in the McGovern cause, said he had talked with McGovern following Eagleton's announcement, but added that they did not discuss the choice of a new running-mate. He called Eagleton's resignation "a very difficult and courageous thing to do."

He Went Down Fighting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, his lips drawn tight as he announced his withdrawal from the race for vice president, says he went down fighting.

The Missouri senator, 42, said he gave in only at the personal urging of his running mate, Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern.

The two met for 1½ hours in one of the Senate's inner sanctums, the Marble Room near the Senate floor. Only Eagleton, McGovern and their mutual friend, Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., were present.

Eagleton said he told McGovern what he'd been telling the nation for the past several days: that he thought he'd be an asset to the Democratic ticket despite the furor over his disclosure that he'd voluntarily but secretly undergone psychiatric treatment in the 1960s.

"I closed my argument by saying that I wanted to remain on the ticket," Eagleton said later at a news conference.

The beginning of the end came at 6:46 p.m., when McGovern walked into the Democratic cloakroom off the Senate floor, and shook hands with Eagleton.

The two, accompanied by Nelson walked a few paces into the Marble Room.

McGovern prevailed. The two reached a "joint decision" that Eagleton would send a written resignation to Democratic National Chairman Jean Westwood.

After the 1½-hour meeting, newsmen, who had crowded outside the exits from the Senate floor, were told a news conference would be held shortly.

But even before the formal announcement, the decision could be guessed by observing the glum faces on Eagleton's aides. Eagleton himself said little and never smiled. His face was firmly set in a near-grimace.

As he squinted into a battery of television lights in the hot, crowded Senate Caucus Room, Eagleton could look back on one of the most agonizing weeks of his life.

In an interview late last week he was asked if he could recall any experience more painful than the furor following his public disclosure of his medical history. He mentioned only one, the death of his father two years ago.

After the news conference he slipped away quickly, still accompanied by the Secret Service bodyguards assigned to him after McGovern selected him for vice president 2½ weeks ago in Miami Beach.

Eagleton was praised by political figures Monday as a man who put nation and party ahead of his own political ambition as Democrats expressed hope the way was now clear to a campaign concerned with issues, not personalities.

Oklahoma Gov. David Hall called Eagleton's decision to drop out as presidential nominee George McGovern's running mate "a show of raw courage in a time of frustration and turmoil."

"It was a selfless act, putting party and the good of his country ahead of his own personal ambitions," Hall said.

"Sen. McGovern can now focus his attentions on the burning issues such as domestic employment and inflation, and he can debate his opponent on the real issues, not charges and counter-charges."

Texas Democratic party chairman Roy Orr lauded Eagleton as a man who "put his country first" and said he was not surprised by the decision.

McGovern Military Bill in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate votes today on a $4-billion military-spending cut proposed by Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern who eventually wants to trim current Pentagon spending by nearly one-third.

Sen. McGovern proposed an amendment reducing Defense Department spending authorization from $81 billion to $77 billion for the next fiscal year. Passage would restrict the Pentagon to the level of funds authorized for the current fiscal year, but would not touch this year's military funds, McGovern said.

The Senate has rejected similar amendments in the past.

McGovern said he seeks to maintain the current level "so the next administration will be better able to set its own military-spending priorities."

He said the cut would free more money for such programs as health care, housing and jobs.

McGovern's measure was in the form of an amendment to the $20.5-billion military-procurement bill.

Other Senate debate concerned a move to raise military-retirement benefits and a restaging of last year's fight to end the draft. Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., revived that argument by introducing an amendment to end the draft Dec. 31.

Sen. John Tunney, D-Calif., planned to argue today for his amendment to end U.S. bombing of North Vietnam. The intent, he said, is to prevent bombing of the North Vietnamese dikes. The administration denies that dikes have been struck intentionally.

Tunney said he would not offer his amendment for a vote until Wednesday, and only then if troop-withdrawal amendments fail.

McGovern's measure jibes with the Pentagon-spending views he has outlined in a campaign position paper which recommends cutting the Defense budget to $53 billion annually and scrapping such major programs as the B1 bomber and the Safeguard ABM missile.

As action on the weapons bill progressed Monday, the Senate approved 76 to 9 an amendment by Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., to extend the presidential authority for weapons sales and military credits to Israel without the previous $300-million ceiling.

Airliner Lands in Algiers, $1 Million to Hijackers

ALGIERS (AP) —A U.S. airliner taken over by hijackers who collected $1 million ransom landed today in Algiers.

American diplomatic officials said the Delta Air Lines DC8 landed safely at Maison Blanche Airport and no one aboard was hurt during the transatlantic flight from Boston.

Algerian security men took the 13 adults and three children aboard the plane into the airport for screening. It was expected that the plane and the crew would be allowed to return to the United States without delay.

Allan Davis, acting head of the American diplomatic mission in Algiers, was on hand when the airliner landed.

The FBI said three men from Detroit took over the Delta airliner Monday on a flight from Detroit to Miami. The hijackers, reportedly armed, were accompanied by two women and three children.

The hijackers let the 87 other passengers get off at Miami and took aboard a suitcase containing the $1 million ransom, which had been collected from Miami banks. With a crew of seven, the DC8 flew to Boston, loaded fuel and food and took aboard an international navigator. Then it flew to Algeria.

The eight passengers, all from Detroit, who remained on the plane were identified by the FBI in Detroit as Larry Burgess, Jean McNair, Yahari and Iyona McNair, both children; Joyce Tillerson a child named Kenya Tillerson, Melvin McNair, and Harry Singleton.

Burgess was listed on the Delta passenger list as Rev. L. Burgess.

There was speculation that the Algerian government would return the $1 million as well as the plane. In a similar case two months ago, an American couple hijacked a Western Airlines Boeing 720 to Algiers after collecting $500,000. The Algerians seized the ransom money and returned it to the United States, but the two hijackers are still in Algiers awaiting a decision on their request for political asylum.

One passenger who witnessed the hijacking over Florida described the leader of the gang as a 'Negro male, dark, about 30, six-foot plus and weighing over 200 pounds."

The witness, Detroit attorney Samuel C. Gardner, said the man wore a black mohair suit and carried a Gideon Bible.

At Miami, one gun-wielding hijacker threatened to shoot someone if they did not receive $1 million and safe passage to Algeria, a crew member reported.

However, a passenger, Mrs. Raymond Krutcycz of Holland, Mich., said the hijackers all "were very well dressed. They were very polite and didn't bother the other passengers at all."

After about two hours of radio negotiations between the hijackers and FBI agents, two men in bathing suits delivered the money to the plane.

After the money was hoisted into the plane with a rope, the passengers got off, and the plane departed for Boston. There were no injuries.

After the plane landed about 7 p.m., it taxied to a remote apron adjacent to Boston Harbor. A large contingent of FBI agents clustered to watch from the airport fire station about a quarter mile away.

The hijackers demanded that the two fuel truck attendants and the navigator needed for the transatlantic flight be clad only in bathing trunks.

'Accepted with Regret'

Paltz Chief Files Formal Resignation

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz Village Police Chief James Walrath submitted his formal resignation, effective Aug. 31, at Monday night's meeting of the New Paltz Village Board. He has been chief since June, 1970.

Walrath had altered the village to his impending retirement some time ago, but had consented to stay on until his replacement was found.

The name of his replacement has not yet been announced, but with Walrath's resignation in, it is expected to be announced shortly.

Trustee John Logan, head of the police committee, said he was "very sorry to see him go," and Mayor Henry W. DuBois said Walrath's performance as chief had proven he had "good qulaifications when he came here."

'Things have improved immensely out on the street since he's been here," said DuBois of Walrath.

Walrath's resignation was accepted with regret.

Trustee John Sherwig, head of the sewer committee, reported that, despite statements of the engineers to the contrary, the mechanical seals being installed at the sewer plant had not solved the odor problem. "The frequency of complaints I have recieved from that area has not diminished," Sherwig said.

The problem is still being worked on, according to Sherwig.

On a Logan-Sherwig motion, Village Attorney J. Philip Zand was directed to prepare and send 90 days notification to Mid-Paltz Interests that the village was going to repossess property deeded to MPI for failure to fulfill the term of the contract.

Logan said the terms of the contract by which MPI received the land specified that MPI was to put in a parking lot within two years. He said MPI had received a two-year extension, but after four years there was still no parking lot.

Jesse Bickmore, who spoke for MPI at the meeting, said the contract said MPI was to put in a parking lot which would conform with a parking lot on adjoining village land, and the village had not put in their parking lot. He said under the terms of the contract, however, that the 90 days notification was "legal and legitimate," and if MPI received the notification the respective attorneys could sit down and see what's needed to be done, "and it will be done."

Bickmore said work had been done in the area, and MPI had spent $3,000 for fill.

An alarm system will be installed at the 2 million gallon storage tank in the village's water system within the next month, Sherwig said. According to Sherwig, the mechanism to prevent overflow has malfunctioned three times. The alarm will tell when overflow is occuring.

Walrath said he has spoken recently with State Department of Transportation officials, and found out that New Paltz was "fifth or sixth on the list" for modifications of the Manheim-Main Street traffic lights. A left turn indicator is needed. He said it would be "three or four months" before it would be installed.

The bottle recylcing program in the village may be in jeopardy. Trustee George Ackert said the plant in Newburgh now taking the bottles had cut out its hours for receipt of the bottles during the week, and was only taking bottles the first Saturday of each month. This meant overtime for the village drivers, who had a long wait at the plant, and the use of two or three trucks. He also said the public was not complying with the hours for leaving bottles, making extra work for village forces.

Both Logan and Ackert said the program might have to be eliminated if the situation did not improve.

The board managed to move through the entire agenda in something under an hour.

Charter Hearing... Much Discussion

If overtones with the new proposed Ulster County Charter on the part of legislators carry over into the pulic sector, a public hearing on the document Wednesday night promises to generate considerable discussion.

Several legislators have previously indicated objections to portions of the proposed charter, with at least one prepared to actively campaign aginst its passage.

Even among those objecting to certain portions of the document, most legislators have, however, indicated a desire to have the proposal passed by the legislature so it can come before the public in the November elections.

The charter provides for 41 elected positions in county government, including 33 legislators, a county executive, a comptroller, a district attorney, a sheriff, a county clerk and three coroners.

All would be elected for four-year terms, except the legislators who would be elected for two years.

Seven major departments with heads appointed by the county executive are also set forth in the document.

The proposed departments are General Administration, Public Works, Planning and Research, Finance, Mental Helath, Public Helath and Social Services.

In addition, there are provisions for the office of County Attorney, Real Property Tax Services Agency, Personnel Administration, Central Office Services, Weights and Measures, Central Purchasing, Data Processing, Division of Fire Safety, and miscellaneous divisions.

It has been estimated by one legislator that the cost of running the new form of government in the county might be $200,000 to $300,000 more than at present. Inefficiencies are, however, expected to be reduced considerably if the new proposed charter is passed by the voters in November according to several legislators.

The public hearing has been set for 7 p.m. Wednesday, August 2, in the County Office Building.

Move Site... Request Denied

KINGSTON

Peter J. Savago chairman of the Ulster County Legislature, has turned down a taxpayer group's request to move Wednesday's public hearing on the proposed county charter out of the County Office Building.

Mrs. Alice Tipp, president of the We've Had It Taxpayers Association (WHITA) of Ulster County, said she was 'shocked" by Savago's decision.

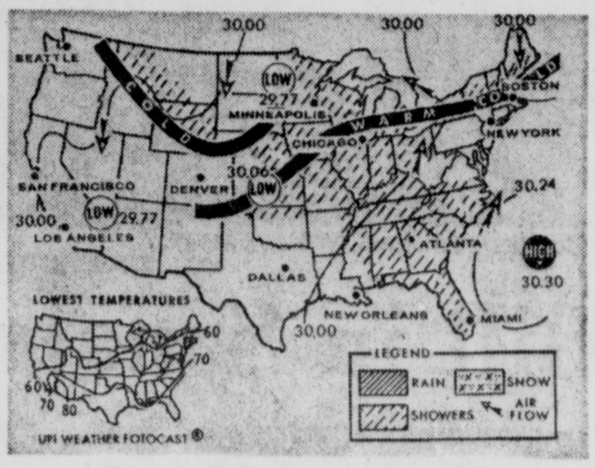
"Please be advised," Savago replied to Mrs. Tipp's request, "that the public hearing will be held in the County Office Building in Kingston. There will be no live radio or television. We have not allowed this in the past and I see no reason to allow it now."

"I hope there's such a good turnout that he will have to change his mind about holding it in such limited space," Mrs. Tipp said of Savago's decision.

In her letter she had said that a location such as the auditorium of George Washington School was larger, had better parking facilities, and was more centrally located than the County Office Building.

She called Savago's denial of live radio and television coverage "a form of discrimination" against those media.

"This is an important issue," Mrs. Tipp said. "It deserves full means. Is there any reason for keeping it away from the elderly and the handicapped who can't attend in person?"



For Period Ending 7 a.m. EST Wednesday

Tonight, extensive shower and thunderstorms are expected from the Central Plains, Upper and Middle Mississippi Valley, Great Lakes area through the Ohio-Tennessee Valley to the Eastern Gulf and South Atlantic States. Bombs Set in Village

Denial, Vow Issued by IRA

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Irish Republican Army denied today that it set the bombs that killed six persons and wounded more than 30 in a village near Londonderry Monday, but it vowed to retaliate for the British Army's occupation of Catholic enclaves.

Officials of the IRA's Provisional Wing charged in Dublin that the three bombs that wrecked the main street of Claudy were planted by British troops to divert attention from their invasion of the long-barricaded "no-go" areas Monday.

Although the guerrillas put up almost no resistance to the invading troops on Monday, "our men are still in town," IRA leader Barney McFadden told a meeting in Londonderry's Bogside.

"They will stay here and take a greater toll when the time and opportunity come," McFadden warned. "Everything is going according to plan."

"ait until they are leaving the area, and they will see if it is so easy," said Bernadette Devlin, the young Catholic member of the British Parliament from Northern Ireland. "The day will come when those barricades will be built again, stone by stone, brick by brick."

The soldiers appeared preparing for a long stay in the Catholic ghettos. Temporary quarters were established in schools and some unoccupied houses. Construction of new bases was started.

Comparatively little violence was reported Monday night. A youth was shot and wounded in Belfast. Catholic women attacked an army patrol with knives and wounded one soldier in the hand. The army said its men were fired on three times in the Creggan district of Londonderry; the soldiers claimed they hit two of their assailants.

TANK ROLLS INTO BELFAST—A British armored car crosses a "Free Derry" corner in Belfast during an Army push through the I.R.A. stronghold. Thousands of heavily armed British troops, led by tanks, bulldozers and armored personnel carriers, moved swiftly into Roman Catholic strongholds throughout Northern Ireland on Monday in what the Army said was a complete success to crush the militant Irish Republican Army. Witnesses Identify Bremer

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) — Two witnesses to the assassination attempt on George C. Wallace have identified Arthur H. Bremer in court as the man who wounded the Alabama governor.

Three other witnesses to the shooting failed to make a courtroom identification.

Bremer has pleaded innocent by reason of insanity to 17 charges.

Wallace, seeking the Democratic nomination for president, and four other persons were wounded in a volley of shots as the governor wound up a campaign rally May 15 at a Laurel, Md., shopping center.

The two witnesses who identified Bremer walked into the spectators' section of the Circuit Court trial room at Monday's opening session to indicate with a tap on Bremer's shoulder that he was the man they had seen point a gun at Wallace.

Bremer was seated on the fourth row between two sheriff's deputies and was dressed in civilian clothes. His hair was somewhat longer than the last time he was seen publicly and he was wearing a new beard. He did not acknowledge the identification.

There was no testimony to tie the 21-year-old defendant directly to the .38 caliber revolver found at the scene or that it was the weapon with which the governor, one of his campaign workers, a Secret Service agent and an Alabama state trooper were wounded.

The next to last witness called by Prince Georges County State's Atty. Arthur A. Marshall on Monday, however, was Richard E. Duby, a Milwaukee, Wis., gun salesman, who indirectly linked Bremer with the weapon.

Duby said he did not remember selling a revolver to Bremer, but he verified his signature on a sales slip showing purchase of a gun last January by Bremer.

The first identification of Bremer as the assailant came from Mrs. Ross E. Speigle of Laurel, Md. She hestiated only about 20 seconds before picking out Bremer from among the 100 spectators and newsmen in the courtroom.

Mrs. Speigle told the court before identifying Bremer that "an arm came across my left shoulder with a gun" only seconds before Wallace was wounded.

Mrs. Speigle's identification was backed up by the witness who followed her to the stand, county police officer Michael Landrum.

The opening day moved very rapidly. A jury of six men and six women was selected in only a little more than one hour.

In his opening statement, defense attorney Benjamin Lipsitz told the jury he would present a picture of Bremer that would show him to be "a boy who was weird from the day he came on this earth . . .

"I don't know whether Arthur Bremer shot Gov. Wallace and three others May 15, and I'm not sure even Arthur Herman Bremer knows."

Part-Time Jobs Are Created For Employable Welfare Clients

NEW YORK (AP) — The city's budget and welfare directors have announced creation of 15,715 part-time city jobs for employable welfare clients to "earn" their relief checks.

At a joint news conference Monday, Budget Director David A. Grossman and Human Resources Administrator Jule M. Sugarman said the jobs could be filled by 30,000 "home-relief" employables and should bring in $90 million a year in labor services.

Grossman said the 6,000 clients now working out their grants in part-time city jobs were providing the city with $18 million a year in service.

There are up to 80,000 home-relief cases among the 1,250,000 persons on welfare in the city. A new state law requires that employable home-relief recipients must participate in the HRA's public works project or lose their welfare checks.

The program's objective is to train these jobless welfare recipients—who do not fall into the large relief categories such as Aid to Dependent Children—so they will qualify for full-time employment and go off relief.

Sugarman said the 15,000-plus jobs were created in 10 city agencies that oversee schools, parks, hospitals, housing projects and other public works. Most jobs are in areas classified as "service and clerical."

Participants work an average of 4½ days every two weeks at an average rate of $2.78 an hour, which is not paid but is equivalent to welfare benefits received.

The home-relief employable must work for municipal agencies if no other work or training is found for them within 30 days.

'Gentlemanly' Bandits Missed Bigger Payoff

NEW YORK (AP) — Police say the gentlemanly bandits who rifled five safe deposit boxes at the Plaza Hotel escaped with an estimated $50,000 in jewelry—but missed a much bigger payoff through a hitch in their timing.

The boxes were rented to jewelry firms and were filled with hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of gems during jewelers' exhibition here last week. But most of the items were removed when the show ended Friday.

Acting chief of detectives Jules Sachson said the dapper thieves did hit one good box containing a $32,500 emerald diamond tiara owned by the De Young Jewelry Co. of Boston, Mass. They opened another of the company's boxes, however, and found it empty.

The polite five-man team of armed bandits held 21 persons at bay early Monday while they drilled out the locks on the boxes. They carefully selected from among the 125 boxes in the room and Sachson noted, "They were well prepared. They knew what they were doing."

Another box they broke into was rented by Van Cleef & Arpels, the New York jewelers, but it too was empty. Police said they bungled attempts to break into several other boxes and overlooked $15,000 in cash in a nearby office.

Flood Waters Sweep Back, Cover Greater Manila Area

MANILA (AP) — Fed by incessant monsoon rains, flood waters swept back over much of Luzon Island and the greater Manila area today. It was the worst natural disaster in Philippine history.

Ninety per cent of Manila was reported flooded and about 80 per cent of the labor force did not report for work.

Three more deaths, including one from cholera in Pampanga Province, brought the unofficial toll to 308 since July 6. Much of 14 provinces was under water, and at least 2 million persons were affected.

The National Disaster Coordinating Center said the floods were worse than those last month; the waters had begun to recede when new monsoons came.

Persons in Pampanga, north of Manila, had to climb trees to escape drowning.

The Weather Bureau said a low pressure area 120 miles south of Guam threatened Luzon with more rain for the next 48 hours.

Officials appealed to the U.S. government not to withdraw 14 U.S. Marine helicopters from the carrier Tripoli which have been flying daily relief flights since July 22. The carrier and its helicopters had been scheduled to stay no more than a week, and the helicopters were reported overdue for maintenance in Okinawa.

The helicopters from the Tripoli together with U.S. Air Force and Navy helicopters from the Clark and Subic Bay bases have delivered more than 1,000 tons of goods to flood victims in the past 10 days, a spokesman said.

A GREAT BUY IS ONLY A GREAT BUY IF YOU CAN BUY IT.

A good deal isn't going to wait for you to get the money. So we've created a checking account that lets you borrow simply by writing a check.

It's called Line of Credit. Our way of lending you up to $5,000 anytime, anyplace.

With a Line of Credit checkbook, you can write yourself a loan whenever you need extra money. So if you come across an opportunity that won't wait, you won't have to wait. Just write a check.

You don't have to worry about filling out a new application every time you use it. And you don't have to worry about getting in over your head, either. We won't let you do that.

Every month we'll send you a statement showing just how much you've borrowed. You can pay it back all at once or just a little at a time. Naturally, you only pay interest on what you borrow.

We think money should be there when you need it. After all, a great buy isn't a great buy if you don't buy it.

Needed Tax Reform

There's a gentleman out in Columbus, Ind., for whom the only appropriate adjective is "unique."

He's complaining about taxes.

You probably think that's not unusual until you hear what he's complaining about. He says he's not paying enough taxes. And now you get the picture.

J. Irwin Miller is no starry-eyed idealist. Neither is he in the class of the downtrodden and the impoverished whose theme song is "soak the rich." Mr. Miller is chairman of the board of a big midwest machinery company. He's also a graduate of Yale and Oxford and has served on a number of government commissions and task forces.

So he's no stranger to financial matters. He was asked to testify the other day before a congressional joint economic committee which is studying the need for more federal revenue. Mr. Miller had a quick, albeit painful, solution. Raise the taxes, he said.

No amount of tax reform and no amount of increased government efficiency will provide the necessary funds, the manufacturer declared, as he made the point that he doesn't think he pays enough taxes. Nor, he said, does anyone else.

The midwesterner will find plenty of people ready to argue with him on that last statement. Most of us feel we're overtaxed right now although we'd gladly see the "other guy" pay a little more.

But Mr. Miller does give you something to think about. He maintains that Americans in their private lives are doing fine and that their standard of living is rising steadily.

"Taxes," the speaker felt, "are not bad, any more than the price we pay for anything we want and need is bad."

He saw our wants today as great, naming the basic things most of us support—equal justice for all, improving education for our children, clean environment, adequate defense, superior health care, transportation and the like.

He suggested that a reluctant Congress face up to the challenge.

It's interesting that his testimony should come on the same day that a Democratic congressman, Rep. Charles A. Vanik of Illinois, made public the names of some of the nation's largest corporations that he felt were paying less than their share of the tax load.

Gulf and Western Industries, Continental Oil, McDonnell-Douglas and Aluminum Company of America were among the mighty corporations, according to Representative Vanik, which made a profit in 1971 but paid no taxes. He also described others in steel, timber, petroleum and railroading as paying "especially low taxes."

We may debate Mr. Miller's thesis about everyone should pay more taxes, but none will argue that the taxman shouldn't go after these big fellows. If Uncle Sam started with corporate tax reform, maybe individual tax reform would be more palatable.

Eagleton's Candor

Senator Thomas Eagleton's candor in revealing his health history came as a result of Knight newspapers research. He could scarcely have expected to keep such facts hidden. It was courteous that President Nixon instructed his staff to say nothing about it, and Vice President Agnew did the same. None of the principals want to make a political issue of it, and that is as it should be.

Nonetheless, Eagleton, with his illness, remarkably weathered campaigns, that raised him through St. Louis city attorney, Missouri Attorney General, Missouri Lieutenant Governor to United States Senator.

Mental health and mental capability have figured in previous campaigns. Eagleton frankly made his own revelation when faced by the press. This is in his favor.

Knight Newspapers also showed restraint in not breaking the story without first letting the candidate say it his own way.

DIPLOMACY TO POLITICS — Kenneth B. Keating came home, after three years as ambassador to India, to campaign for President Nixon. Keating's personal popularity was high, despite the all-time low of the relations between the two countries.

How a Hit Record Is Born

WASHINGTON — Record promoters offer drugs, whiskey, prostitutes, Las Vegas wingdings, TV sets and autos to get their records on the "top 45" rating charts. But hard cash remains the favorite payola medium.

As evidence, here's the anatomy of a typical payola case from our six-month-long investigation.

Rebel Recording, a bold and brassy Maryland company, has been pushing the record, "The Legend of the Rebel Soldier." It appeared on the rating charts on Tri-State Distributors, Fort Wayne, as one of the "comers" in the country music field.

Such charts are used by broadcasters for choosing records to play. The charts, therefore, can make or break a new record.

Tri-State's owner is Cliff Ayers Ostermeyer, a one-time recording star, who has now gone into the record promotion-distribution business.

Out of the blue, Ostermeyer fired off a letter to Rebel's president, Charles Freeland, about his new hit record. The letter made no bones about how Freeland could keep "The Legend of the Rebel Soldier" on the rating charts.

It would cost, wrote Ostermeyer, "100 promo records" and $100 in cash for "the promo girls."

Working with us, Freeland made a call from our office to Ostermeyer in Nashville to learn whether the payola letter meant what it said. Here is a partial transcript of the telephone call:

Curious Conversation

Freeland: "We think the thing will go. What would be the fee? $11 and 100 records?

Ostermeyer: "Yeah."

Freeland: "Where would you be working it?"

Ostermeyer detailed where he would promote the records, then they came back to the cost. The ante had gone up.

Ostermeyer: "That's 100 records in Indiana (Ostermeyer's home office) and 100 in Nashville (The Tennessee branch), oh, and $100 up there and $100 down here . . . You'll get your money's worth."

Freeland: "Well, we have some money to spend."

Ostermeyer: "It'll cost you some money . . ."

Freeland: "What's chances of moving it up on the charts if we spend a little more money . . .?"

Ostermeyer: "For $100, we put it up in the Top 45. I'd give you a 36 spot (on the Top 45 ratings). Then when Miss Cott from Billboard (a national magazine carrying charts) calls me, then I can back it up.)

Freeland: "That would be moving up."

Ostermeyer: "It'll cost you another $100 right away. We'll have to move a client out of that spot."

Freeland: "Where should I send it?"

Ostermeyer: Send two (hundred dollars) to Tri-State and one (hundred) to Nashville. Get that airmail."

The conversation indicated that the record's rating would be determined not by its popularity with listeners, but by cash on the barrelhead.

Billboard magazine denied that it uses Ostermeyer's charts. And Ostermeyer, confronted with the transcript of his conversation, insisted that money could not buy a record's way onto his Top 45 list. "If I said that, I'm wrong," he told my associate Les Whitten.

Blue Cross Cuts

Blue Cross and Blue Shield, the nonprofit health insurance groups, secretly cut back on benefits to federal employees at the same time they were clamoring for a whopping rate increase.

The rate boosts will cost the little people at the bottom rungs of government anywhere from $75 million to $95 million in unjustified premiums in 1972 alone.

Blue Cross bigwigs went before the Civil Service Commission in June, 1971, with a request for a 53 per cent increase in the Federal Employees Health Benefit Program. They finally settled for a more modest 22 per cent hike.

About the same time, the Blue Cross official in charge of the federal program, Joseph Harvey, devised a scheme to restrict benefits to government employees, thereby saving Blue Cross-Blue Shield millions.

He outlined his plan in a 35-page memo to his regional officers. The document was never intended to be seen outside the organization, but we have obtained a copy.

Stripped of its technical jargon, the memo calls for a drastic curtailment of such benefits as "diagnostic admissions"; obesity "regardless of secondary complications; mental health care; private duty nurses; physical therapy or cases consisting primarily of physical therapy."

Most of the federal customers have yet to learn of their reduced benefits. Some government workers ran up thousands of dollars in medical bills before they learned their Blue Cross plan no longer covers the full tab.

Joseph Harvey, the roly-poly, stogie-smoking author of the cutbacks, insists the distraught customers don't know what they're talking about. Blue Cross "wasn't cutting back" on benefits, he told us, but was merely implementing a "cost-control program."

Footnote: Blue Cross officials will be summoned to explain their shenanigans in public next month when Rep. Jerry Waldie, D-Calif., calls them before his House Civil Service subcommittee.

N. Vietnam's Dikes

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Publicly, in the United States and around the world, President Nixon is being attacked daily for dike destruction in North Vietnam.

What isn't reported is that privately some officials in the Pentagon and in the White House are criticizing the President for not bombing the dikes "to bring the war to a quick end."

In recent weeks, this reporter has listened to off the record "why-won't-he-bomb-the-dikes" arguments in fairly high circles in the government and to complaints that Mr. Nixon has recently given (renewed) "the strictest orders" that North Vietnam's dikes are not to be targets.

So what, then, is the truth?

This reporter understands from contacts in the Pentagon that the prevailing opinion among Defense Secretary Melvin Laird's top military advisors, including the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is that deliberate bombing of dikes would not be good military strategy. It would be counter-productive and would not bring the war to a quick end.

Even putting moral considerations and, there is strong belief the dike, are not the most effective targets in this type of war.

One thing is certain. If the Air Force and Navy air were ordered to systematically destroy North Vietnam's dike system, the flooding this season would be tremendous and horrible to behold. There would be no hiding the fact. Not only crops would be destroyed. Hanoi and other North Vietnam cities and towns are on low-lying land. The flooding would outdo the havoc wrought by Hurricane Agnes to the northeastern United States this summer.

But dikes are being bombed as a part of target complexes. Major roads, rail lines, antiaircraft installations, military warehouses, power plants, munitions storage dumps and other military objectives are surrounded by, situated closely beside, or located on dikes.

And as this reporter has seen in three wars, bombing is frequently very inaccurate. The number of times bombers have hit their own troops or allies had never been fully reported. It is probable that some pilots, finding their primary targets inaccessible, have bombed here and there, randomly hitting dikes.

We do not know yet whether some other pilots have taken matters into their own hands.

But make no mistake about it, North Vietnam is having dike trouble, it will likely be deadly serious in the months ahead.

There was heavy flooding last year. This flooding caused widespread destruction of dikes. Many which held through these floods were seriously weakened and required extensive repairs.

Women today are two-thirds of the agricultural labor force in North Vietnam and that force has been stretched paper-thin. Because the Chinese withdrew their thousands of labor troops and because heavy casualties in the war in the South further depleted available manpower, dike repair has lagged. There have not been enough workers to spare.

Yet dikes historically have taken great amounts of manpower. In the olden days, it is reported, farmers were required to labor 60 to 120 days a year on public works to protect the fields.

This year's rains have further weakened dikes that last year's floods softened up. Even if there was no bombing in 1972, there still would be floods and considerable destruction in North Vietnam.

Martin F. Nolan Says

There's No Mud in Joyville

WASHINGTON—It used to be that baseball was the most uncontroversial, least politicized topic going. But with a couple of best-sellers on the slothful glories of the sport, you knew that politics couldn't be far behind.

So there was Dick Schaap on television before the All-Star Game, pitching batting-practice questions to a pair of bipartisan trivia freaks—Frank Mankiewicz, a George McGovern Democrat, formerly Beverly Hills divorce lawyer and curator of the "Gashouse Gang" museum of memories, and David Eisenhower, relative of Richard Nixon, U.S. naval officer and a former statistician for the late Washington Senators.

The political parade was depressing. Mankiewicz, supposedly avant-garde of political thought, is a well-known reactionary, refusing to acknowledge the merits of newer St. Louis Cardinals, even those with properly colorful nicknames. He thinks Marty "Slats" Marion and Enos "Country" Slaughter are rookie upstarts.

As for Eisenhower, how can he explain that his former employer, now the Texas Rangers, was totally unrecognizable at the All-Star Game? The reason is, of course, that the team's owner traded away a familiar roster—McMullen, Rodriguez, Coleman, Unser, Knowles, Epstein. That's like David's father-in-law going to Moscow to trade the Strategic Air Command for a quart of vodka.

The process of choosing the All-Stars seemed as efficient and popular as the workings of the Electoral College. There seems to be a time lag between the democratic choices of the fans and current batting averages. Like about five years.

Unlike other sports ceremonies, the sportswriters have no direct say in choosing the squad. But, as in politics, the press influences those who do the choosing. Thus "Bill Freehan-C" and "Luis Aparicio-SS" are engraved in the mind like "Wilbur Mills, powerful chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee."

Those printed ballots for ball-park patrons are drawn up by some clerk in the commissioner's office who has all the perspicacity of Joseph Alsop and the wisdom of Evans and Novak.

For a while there Tuesday night, it looked as though Henry Aaron was going to be the Henry Jackson of the game, but he was the only one of the established crowd to come through. The other heroes were not from the Geritol set—Cesar Cedeno, 21; Tug McGraw, 27; Nate Colbert, 25; Chris Speier, 21; Carlton Fisk, 24; Joe Rudi, 24; and Cookie Rojas, 32. (No 32 isn't old; Rojas hit .300 last year.)

The difference between baseball and politics is that no extra innings are allowed in politics. (Hubert Humphrey was sure that he could have won the game in the 12th inning four years ago.) And virtue is not necessarily its own reward nor its own punishment. Last year the Chicago Cubs went at Leo Durocher like liberal Republicans fricasseeing Spiro Agnew. But Leo has left and Spiro, the quintessential "No More Mr. Nice Guy," remains. The G.O.P. clubhouse rebellion may have proven Durocher's axiom that nice guys finish last.

With Tom Eagleton just coming off the disabled list, George McGovern finds the bases full again, as they have been all year. The Republican lineup looks as impressive as the one drawn up by the nation's No. 1 fan himself, while the Demos are fielding an all-rookie line-up.

As the fall classic awaits the crack of hickory ash on horsehide and all that, we can remember that in this one the fans are the umpires, the ones making sure that there is no mud in our joyville of democracy.

Honesty in politics can be puzzling if not perilous. There's been nothing quite like the Eagleton confession since Sandy Koufax once announced that he wouldn't pitch on Yom Kippur. That announcement threw the Giants off balance for the rest of the season.

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices were mixed in today's stock market after five declining sessions in a row.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off fractionally but advancing issues on the New York Stock Exchange took a lead over declining stocks.

The recent market pattern has been for low volume to accompany lower prices, and when prices pick up the volume rises.

Kingston Man Gains Support for State Position

KINGSTON

Support for the possible gubernatorial appointment of Kingston native Raymond T. Schuler to the recently vacated post of State Transporation Commissioner, is coming from Republican County Chairman Albert Spada.

The GOP leader said he has forward his recommandation to Gov. Rockefeller who will make the appointment to fill the vacancy created recently by the resignation of Commissioner T. W. Parker.

Schuler has been second in command to Parker in the State Transportation Department, having been appointed executive deputy commissioner just two years ago.

A career state employe with more than 15 years of service in key positions with the department, he is the son of Mrs. Raymond J. Schuler of 198 E. Chester Street, Kingston and the late Raymond J. Schuler. His father was on the Ulster County Board of Supervisors and was Commissioner of Public Works.

Schuler, 42, is a graduate of Kingston High School and received his bachelor of arts degree in public administration from Syracuse University. He furthered his education in the field at the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs at Syracuse University.

From 1952 to 1955 he served in the U.S. Marine Corps as an officer.

He has been a member of the National Board of Directors of the Syracuse University Alumni Assoication, a past president of the Albany Area Syracuse Alumni Association, past commandant of the Marine Corps League and a member of the American Society of Pulbic Administration, the American Society of State Highway officials and other professional, veterans and service organiations.

Water Problem . . . Quick Action

HURLEY

Residents of Hurley Ridge, in need of a more adequate water supply got quick action recently after Supervisor George Schroeder and Assemblyman H. Clark Bell initiated action which led the Fuller Water Supply Company to start digging a new well within three days.

A letter from the residents commending all involved was read at the monthly meeting of the Hurley Town Board Monday night.

Schroeder also reported that $8,000 worth of work has been completed in the Arnold Drive, Terry Lane area which suffered hurricane damage last year. Charles Arnold is being asked to support the town's claim for federal funds to reimburse the community.

The Highway Department, which was asked by a resident to erect four-way stop signs on various intersections of Cedar Street, reported that it found no need for the signs and denied the request.

The Town Board, at the request of Schroeder, agreed to allocate $500 for the purchase of a storage building for the library and town hall.

In his semi-annual report to the board, Supervisor Schroeder said the town is financially sound with little bonded indebtedness. He told of general fund investments amounting to $23,763.89, capital improvements in the amount of $6,978.64 and of $2,448.32 in an interest drawing account. He explained that highway fund investments of $70,579.56 in a working fund have been laid aside to draw interest. Bonded indebtedness amounts to $26,150.

Schroder also announced that Justice Court revenues are up more than double last year and are far above budget estimates.

Schroeder and Police Chief Philip Sinagra reported that they attended a meeting regarding the possibility of a county-wide police communications system and referred the information gleaned from the meeting to the town's Constabulary Committee.

Discussion was also held concerning the possibility of increasing the fee for building permits.

TV Hour Causes Commotion

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — Seven inmates demanding an extra hour's television time at the Dutchess County Jail assaulted several guards Monday night and held one of them hostage for about an hour before returning to their cells, Sheriff Lawrence Quinlan said this morning.

Each of the prisoners was armed with a makeshift weapon, Quinlan said, and three guards and one inmate suffered minor injuries in the scuffle.

The sheriff said he would ask the district attorney to prefer various charges against the inmates.

A guard escorting a trusty into the jail's cell tier was assaulted by the seven as he opened the barred gate, Quinlan said. That guard summoned other officers, Quinlan said, and by the time the melee ended the inmates were holding three hostages.

One quickly escaped and another was released, but it was almost an hour before "a show of force" convinced the prisoners to return to their cells, Quinlan said.

The inmates were armed with makeshift clubs, broken glass, a broken light bulb, he said.

Local Man Now Faces Added Charge

KINGSTON

John F. Williams, 22, of 50 Rock Street, Kingston, one of five men arrested last week by Kingston police in connection with a series of suspicious fires in the city, faces an additional charge of desertion from the U.S. Army.

Kingston detectives said that Williams, now being held in the Ulster County Jail, would be turned over to military authorities to face the desertion charge after the two counts of fourth degree arson against him have been settled.

The arson charges against Williams stemmed from a fire July 7 at St. Anne's Convent, Broadway, and another blaze at Miron on East Strand on July 6.

Williams allegedly deserted from his post at Ft. Hamilton, N. Y., police said.

The surprising Maverick.

It's a comfortable, 6-cylinder American compact that's actually priced below the Volkswagen 113.

If you can afford a Volkswagen 113 – or almost any little import– you can afford a Maverick. Look:

FORD MAVERICK	2-door	6-cylinder	$2,140.*
VW 113 (Super Beetle)	2-door	4-cylinder	$2,159.*
TOYOTA COROLLA 1600	2-door	4-cylinder	$2,109.*
DATSUN PL 510	2-door	4-cylinder	$2,306.*

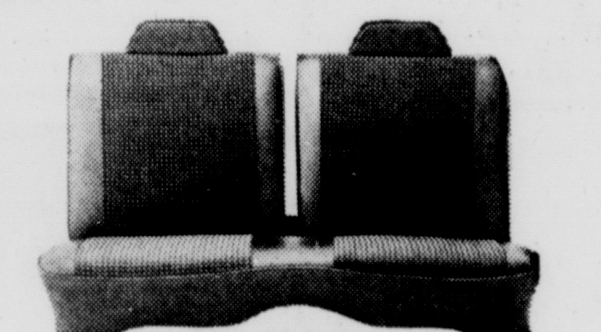
*Manufacturer's suggested retail price for 2-door models. Excludes dealer preparation charges if any, destination charges, title and taxes.

NOTE: People ask us how we can afford to offer a roomy, 6-cylinder compact at about the same price as the little imports.

First, we've been making small cars since 1908. Experience helps.

Second, we haven't changed Maverick—except for mechanical improvements—since we first introduced it. That kind of continuity helps to control costs.

Third, recent currency revaluations and devaluations have helped restore the competitive stance of American manufacturers.



Ample room inside.

Maverick's front seat, for example: over 8" more shoulder room than Volkswagen 113.

There's no wasted space inside Maverick. At the same time, none of that small-car crowded feeling.

Most little imports give you 4-cylinder engines. Maverick gives you a 6-cylinder engine.

It's smooth. It's reliable. It lets you accelerate into turnpike traffic with confidence and hold your own on steep hills. And it delivers surprisingly good gas mileage.

Maintenance: Even simpler, more convenient than the little imports.

VW, for example, recommends normal service every 3000 miles or three months, whichever comes first. On Maverick, it's 6000 miles or six months. So Maverick's recommended service interval is twice as long as Volkswagen's.

We also designed Maverick to be a simple machine to care for. In fact, we've even prepared a manual which tells you how to do many maintenance jobs yourself.

One more convenience: there are over 5,600 Ford dealers in the country. VW has about 1,100.

A good car for long trips.

Maverick's rear track is 2.9" wider than Volkswagen's. Its wheelbase is 7.7" longer. There's a bit more weight, too. By themselves, these differences aren't very big—but they can add up to a big difference in the way Maverick drives and handles the open road.

Better idea for safety . . . buckle up!

FULL HOUSE—Lady Kelly of O'Carra, an AKC registered Irish setter, became a mother for the first time in a big way on July 20, giving birth to 13 pedigreed puppies. Eleven of them survived, eight females and three males from a record litter. Lady Kelly is owned by Mrs. Edward Carr of Krumville Road, Olivebridge. The father, also an AKC registered Irish setter, is Thorn-Ban-Jo, owned by Charles Ashley of 51 Pearl Street, Kingston.

Vermont Prison Inmates' Revolt Under Control

WINDSOR, Vt. (UPI)—Inmates of the Vermont State Prison overpowered two guards Monday and released 60 fellow prisoners from their cells. The situation was quickly brought under control after inmates presented a list of grievances.

The incident occurred as men were returning from an Alcoholics Anonymous meeting, but apparently had been brewing for some time.

The prisoners returned to their cells early Monday evening, after releasing the hostages unharmed.

A five-man committee representing the prisoners put before prison authorities a list of grievances, including guard treatment and visitation rights.

The state authorities agreed to review the complaints, and filed no charges.

Funeral Services for Msgr. Kane ... Cardinal Cooke Celebrates Mass

NEW YORK CITY

Funeral services for the Rev. Msgr. Christpher G. Kane, who coordinated the services for an archdiocesan network of 17 hospitals, including Benedictine Hospital in Kingston, was held today in St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York City with His Eminence Terence Cardinal Cooke as principal con-celebrant on the Mass of the Resurrection.

Msgr. Kane, 48, died July 27 in Misericordia Hospital in New York City after a long illness.

He was vice chairman of the National Conference of Diocesan Coordinators of Health Affairs and co-director of the Department of Health and Hospitals of New York Catholic Charities.

A frequent visitor to Kingston, Msgr. Kane officiated at dedication ceremonies for both the Spellman Pavilion and the Benedictine Hospital Heliport.

During his 13 years in the health field, Msgr. Kane attained wide recognition for his expertise and was appointed to the boards of a number of national, state and city health and hospital committees.

Appointed by Gov. Rockefeller as a director of the New York State Hospital Review and Planning Council in 1970, he was also an active member of the board of governors of the Greater New York Hospital Association, the board of trustees of the New York State Hospital Associations and a member of the board of directors of the Health and Hospital Planning Council of Southern New York, the Northern Metropolitan Health and Hospital Council, the Community Blood Council of Greater New York and the Hospital Credit Exchange.

In 1970, Msgr. Kane was awarded an honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters by New York Medical College.

Today's services were preceded by a Mass of Christ Monday night in Manhattan. Burial is in Gate of Heaven Cemetery, Hawthorne.

Senior Citizens ... Experiment

HONOLULU (UPI)—The tiny white-haired woman had gotten into the habit of spending up to 20 hours a day in bed. She had nothing else to do.

A mother living with her daughter and son-in-law was making life unpleasant for them with her continual demands and nagging, and frightening their children as hostility in the home grew.

Then there were those who had been living alone or with their children or others, anxious "not to be a bother" to anyone —and withering away in loneliness, waiting only to die.

These senior citizens, whose days once held nothing to look forward to but meals, memories, sleep and perhaps an occasional word, are rejoining the everyday world, getting back into the present and looking forward to tomorrow. They are doing it through "Hale Ho'Ola'I," Hawaiian for "The House of Contentment."

Hawaii has become the first state in the nation to provide licensed day care centers for the elderly, and the result is an "experiment in love."

Betty Johnstone, the vivacious director of the first center, has a job that requires a free-flowing sense of humor, endless patience and an immense capacity for love.

The 41-year-old grandmother, whose voice rises with excitement when she talks about the center, receives "tremendous satisfaction from brightening the lives of the elderly."

"Before this center started, their days were narrow. They would wake up early with only breakfast to look forward to. Then they would sit, sit and sit some more, occasionally watching television or sleeping.

"These are the people who helped build a community," she said, "and they are isolated from it. We rob them when we stick them in a corner.

"Parents and grandparents, left to themselves all day, lose interest in staying active and being alert, and become more and more of a burden to their families," she said.

Angered by the typical plight of senior citizens, Mrs. Johnstone, a former Salvation Army worker, raised $17,000 from foundations to start the non-profit private center aimed at directing the elderly "back to life."

Her efforts on behalf of the aged culminated in a new law authorizing the Hawaii Department of Social Services to license private centers. With and supportive social, therapeutic and educational services from the state.

Mrs. Johnstone said the program actually saves money because in the past, many senior citizens who were still able to be somewhat active were placed in nursing homes when the family could no longer give them complete care. Mrs. Johnstone's staff of seven and many volunteers are able to provide a "desperately needed one-to-one relationship" with 15 senior citizens at a time, the maximum number the center can accommodate.

"At first the elderly are reluctant to come," Mrs. Johnstone said. "They're so afraid they're going to be left in an institution. When they realize there is nothing to fear, that they will go home each evening, then they can start to grow."

Mrs. Johnstone has found that stimulating the elderly to emerge from the feelings of loneliness and uselessness comes principally through contact with others. Each participant and their family come for counselling initially, giving the staff insight into the way to make the future brighter for both.

The elderly attending the center currently range in age from 58 to 95, with their families bringing them each morning, Monday through Friday, and picking them up by 5:30 p.m. The center is open to anyone who can still get around, even with canes, crutches or walkers, and costs $150 per month, although several of the participants, unable to pay, are on scholarships.

The center offers activities in arts and crafts, music, dancing and language study. There are daily excursions, and always the chance to make friends.

"So many have been relieved by their families of even the most trivial chores, like shopping and banking, that they actually forget what's involved," Mrs. Johnstone said. "We take them to museums, concerts and such, but we also go to banks and supermarkets and reeducate them about these very basic activities."

Mrs. Johnstone cited one woman who was disoriented, struggling with a cane and unable to perform simple tasks when she first came to the center. Before long she was proudly making a blanket for one of her grandchildren. A man who was the victim of a stroke and couldn't write even his own name came to the center and soon was able to print his name and his wife's.

The center, occupying several colorfully decorated rooms at the University Baptist Church, attracts persons representing a variety of races, job backgrounds and religions. A candid person, Mrs. Johnstone does not shy away from the participants' occasional desire to discuss death.

"This is a very real fear for them," she said, "and I try to encourage them to hold on to whatever faith or set of beliefs they possess."

Kissinger Meeting With N. Viet Delegates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Henry A. Kissinger, President Nixon's national security adviser, met in Paris today to continue his secret peace negotiations with North Vietnamese delegates, the White House announced.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler issued a one-paragraph statement announcing the meeting but gave no additional details.

The White House statement said: "Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, assistant to the President for national security affairs, is meeting today in Paris with special adviser Le Duc Tho and Minister Xuan Thui of the North Vietnamese delegation to the peace talks.

"We expect Dr. Kissinger to return to Washington tonight."

Memoriam

In sad and loving memory of our mother and grandmother, Katherine Jansen, who passed away two years ago today, August 1, 1970.

If we could have one lifetime wish,
One dream that would come true,
We would pray with all our hearts,
For yesterday and you.

Sadly missed,
Daughter—GLADYS ADAMS
Grandson—BOB ADAMS

Memoriam

In loving memory of my wife and children's mother, Theresa Schoonmaker, who died three years ago, August 1, 1969.

Life's great span is like a garden,
Where a thousand green things grow,
We live and work in this garden fair,
Our stubborn row to hoe,
We coax and nurse our dreams along,
We welcome every bloom:
And when we think our garden's best,
Cold winter wields his broom,
The flowers of the summer past
Our eyes will see no more,
But greener leaves and brighter blooms
Are well worth waiting for,
But tho the flowers are swept away
And snow lies white and deep
Beneath a cold and frosty quilt
Next summer's roses sleep.

Compensation Legislation Introduced

WASHINGTON (AP) —Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., has introduced legislation which would immediately establish minimum federal standards for state workmen's compensation laws.

A report by the National commission on state workmen's compensation laws has recommended waiting until 1975 before making such a move.

Also under his bill, introduced Monday, federal law would take effect in any state that did not meet the federal standards. Javits said this method would be more effective than the commission's proposal for enforcement through fines and suits by injured workmen.

Arts and Crafts

RED HOOK

A free arts and crafts program began Monday at the Red Hook Recreational Park and is scheduled to run for three weeks.

Sessions, held Monday through Fridays from 1-4 p.m., offer creative instruction in clay modeling, painting, drawing and paper mache and games such as chess, badminton, volley ball and horse shoes.

The program is for children in the Red Hook School District who have at least completed kindergarten and is under the direction of Mrs. Cynthia Fennell. The program will end on Aug. 18.

Unemployment Noted for City

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The list of major U.S. cities with substantial unemployment of 6 per cent or more declined by one to 53 during July.

It matched the lowest point in the past 15 months, a Labor Department report showed Monday.

Dropped from the list when their jobless rates fell below 6 per cent last month were Canton and Youngstown-Warren, Ohio. However Boston was added when its unemployment rate went over the mark.

It was the first time the list of major cities had been as low as 53 since June, 1971, and it was the lowest since 52 cities were on the list in April, 1971. The high point of 65 was reached last October.

But July marked the 17th consecutive month at least one-third of the nation's 150 largest metropolitan areas had unemployment of 6 per cent or more, which is considered 'substantial" by the Labor Department.

The nation's overall unemployment rate was 5.5 per cent in June. July figures will be released this week.

Crafts Show Will Open Saturday At Monticello

On Saturday, Aug. 5, the miracle that is the creative aspect of men and women will be on display in the "Arts and Crafts on the Courthouse Green", in the heart of Monticello.

Developed by the Catskill Art Society and sponsored by the Village of Monticello, this annual event calls forth the best creative achievements of more then 100 artists and lures thousands of visitors, many from distances, to come to Monticello and view and enjoy the artwork. Stately trees shade the lawn and walks that are turned into a veritable fairyland of colors, original designs, unusual forms. Paintings, sculpture, ceramics, weavings, photography, jewelry, wood and metal work, china painting, leather working and a score of other arts and crafts make up the exhibition.

The judge of awards this year will be a nationally recognized artist who now resides permanently in Sullivan County. He is Robert Mangold who has had the distinction while still a young man of having a one-man exhibition in the prestigious Guggenheim Museum in New York City. Represented by the best galleries in the country, Mr. Mangold is in many leading collections here and abroad.

The rain date is the next day, Sunday, Aug. 6.

The public is welcome and admission is free.

ANNUAL BUTTON SHOW — A special treat is in store for collectors and persons interested in old buttons. It's the annual Button Show and Sale Saturday, Aug. 5 when the Mid-Hudson Button Club will have a show and sale at the firehouse in the Town of Wassaic. Many dealers are expected to participate. During the 19th century, button-making was the 10th largest industry in the U.S. In the Hudson Valley, there were several button factories in operation during the 1800-1900 era. The average person is surprised at the intricate designs, the various shapes, art work and commemorative value of old buttons, many of which were made of wood, bone, leather, glass, porcelain, paper mache, antler, mirrors, and shell. Although the study and classification follows that of antiques, these tiny bits of artistry are often overlooked. Today some 30,000 collectors have organized clubs throughout the country. Among the area residents who are members of the Mid-Hudson Button Club is Mrs. Raymond Bonestell of Kingston, pictured above with some of her collection. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Golden Anniversary For Lamouree-Hackett Auxiliary

The reservation date deadline is fast approaching for those members who are looking forward to attending the 50th Anniversary Dinner of the Ladies Auxiliary of Lamouree-Hackett Post 72 of Saugerties. The dinner will be held on Thursday, Sept. 14 at the Flamingo Restaurant on Route 9W. Reservations must be made by August 15 through contact with one of the three chairmen, Mrs. Bernard (Rita) Sachs, Mrs. Albert (Elaine) Genthner or Mrs. Benjamin (Audrey) Newkirk. Each member may invite a lady guest and it is imperative that each person make known her choice of entree when making her reservation.

There are presently 105 members of Unit 72 and it is the hope of all active members that as many as possible will turn out for this event. Charter members and Gold Star mothers will be special guests as well as those who have many years of faithful service to the organization.

Another date to be remembered is the change to October 26 and 27 for the annual rummage sale that has previously been held during the month of August. Any contributions may be left at the Legion Home on John Street. A good assortment of articles will be prepared for the two-day sale. The second day will feature the home-baked food sale.

TV Star Visits Newspaper Office

LENKA PETERSON is one of those successful women who has combined career with husband, children (five in all) and still manages to work for the benefit of others.

Visiting the Women's Department of The Daily Freeman Monday afternoon, the popular star of TV series, specials, Broadway and off-Braodway shows talked about one of the projects that has absorbed her free hours for the past four or five years. It's called — Westchester Young Actors Theatre and her children work right along with her on it. To best explain it, the actress has stated: "I think most adolescents — most people probably — need a sort of half-way house between their homes and the late outside world. A haven where they can go and be together and try out their ideas and develop their 'thing' without being afraid of being laughed at or not listened to. A place where they can work their tails off if they want to or just sit and watch until they get up the courage to try for themselves. Where they can prove to themselves and to the world that often the greater the superficial differences among people doing something together, the better are the results of their joint effort. That's why Westchester Young Actors' Theatre was formed," she says. WYAT is trying to reach the kids and already the organization has received three grants from the New York State Council on the Arts and the National Council on the Arts.

Miss Peterson, who is Mrs. Daniel P. O'Connor in private life, is a vivacious, personable woman. Her husband is director of TV News Programs for NBC-TV where he plans and executes all specials. Her oldest son, Kevin, is 22, Brian is 19, Darren is 18 and the youngest son is 13. One daughter, Glynnis, is 16.

There's a "no nonsense" approach to raising children in the O'Connor household. "My husband and I balance each other out. He's the central power in the family. He's very clear and strong and the final decision is always his. When I can't make up my mind about something, I'll tell the children to ask their father. He sets the limits while my role is a supportive one."

The O'Connor family is unique in that it works together on many things. Theatre has kept them close. "I have been working with my children in theatre in various ways since my oldest boy was only 12. We have a common basis for talk, for effort. And talking together at meals is great. Our Sunday dinners are sometimes two to three hours long," the actress stated.

Miss Peterson admits that when she was doing Broadway shows it was the worst period of their lives because as the kids were home from school and turned to her in the evenings, she would have to leave for New York and a performance. Sometimes she had to take off in the middle of dinner. "I would get so depressed about it — I'd pass my husband in the parking lot as he was coming home and I was leaving for work." As a result, the actress pulled out of activities that kept her aways from home too much of the time and devoted her energies to WYAT and shows like soap operas. The latter was an answer to her situation. She could work during the day and be home with the family in the evening.

Her face is so familiar to TV viewers. She has done six soap opera series at least and many will remember her in YOUNG DOCTOR MALONE, LOVE OF LIFE, LOVE IS A MANY SPLENDERED THING, and A TIME FOR US. Miss Peterson doesn't want to be disloyal to soap operas. "They were a big help to me when I needed the money," she said. "I don't think they're harmful, I just think they're good! I'd much rather see women relax by reading a good book and that's one reason why I couldn't face up to doing the programs any more," she said.

Lenka Peterson who is opening in FORTY CARATS in the Woodstock Playhouse this evening, was once told by a TV writer that plots for soap operas must be written the way they now are because "you can't be happy in a soap opera!"

Miss Peterson would cast a "yes" vote for subsidizing the arts and a "no" vote against the star system. "I feel every actor needs the rest of the cast. Just like in tennis, you hit the ball and you need someone else to send it back." She also feels the arts are important to us because "... you need to feed the soul."

One pet peeve: "Why can't adults be as courteous to children as they are to other adults? It just might help bridge some of that gap," the star said.

Basic Beauty

Back-to-basics is the beauty battle cry. the complexion thrives on gentle, pure soap (a honey or other natural foods base). The soap will deep cleanse. Use an astringent, applied with cotton, to remove any excess oil. Then apply a light moisturizer for skin texture.

Youngster Has Prison Pen Pal

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
[© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: A girl friend got hold of an underground newspaper, and in it was an advertisement from three guys who were lonely and wanted to correspond with some girls. (The guys were in prison.)

I wrote to one named Johnny, and he wrote back, saying he was 29, and was in for armed robbery and possession of herion. Johnny sent his picture and he's real cool. Then he asked me for mine and I sent him one. In his next letter he said they let the guys have any kind of pictures so I should send more.

I am only 13, Abby, and the one picture I sent makes me look much older. (I never told him my age.) My mother saw the letter from him asking for "any kind" of pictures and she took it to mean he wanted pornography, so she said I couldn't write to him any more.

I hate to quit writing to him because he seems so lonely. Should I write to him against my mother's wishes? I really think my letters have been a help to him.

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Write him one last letter, telling him your age and goodbye. I think your mother is right. You're not old enough to cope with that kind of "pen" pal.

DEAR ABBY: So many older parents write to you complaining about how mistreated and neglected they are by their children for whom they sacrificed so much.

I know it is sad because we have had that experience, but we refuse to let it get us down. In the first place, parents should not try to live thru their children. They should find other interests.

Get a part-time job, do volunteer work, develop some hobbies. Take art lessons or learn a craft. There are so many things to learn and do. Then to satisfy that grandparent instinct, seek out a younger couple whose parents live elsewhere, and babysit for them occasionally. (I did this, and I've never known such gratitude!)

If you are slighted on the holidays, (we were), make a lovely festive party and invite other folks who are in the same boat. Have a gay, gala affair and ban all talk of how your children have mistreated you.

The idea is to keep too busy to feel sorry for yourself.

BUSY AND HAPPY

DEAR BUSY: Good for you! Thanks for a sensible and inspiring letter.

DEAR ABBY: I am a German woman living in Pittsburgh, Pa. In your column I saw a letter saying seeing-eye dogs were color blind and couldn't differentiate between green and red lights to help their masters in traffic.

In my home town in Germany, (I suppose because of the war) we had many blind people, so when the green light went on for pedestrians, it was accompanied by a "beeping" so the blind would know the light was green. Maybe the cities over here could do the same.

MRS. H. W. F.

DEAR MRS. R.: It makes a lot of sense to me.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I usually hand-wash lingerie in the bathroom. And I use a very mild liquid detergent for dishes in the kitchen.

So when I finish a bottle of the dish detergent in the kitchen, I fill the bottle with water and place it in the bathroom. One can add a bit more detergent if necessary.

This mixture is perfect for doing fine hand washing.

I also find that "a little still goes a long way" for my small hand washing.

Dear Heloise:

Those little glass baby food jars, which are usually discarded, have many uses I'm sure.

This is one use I have found: During the summer when I prepare fruits for the freezer, I fill some of the little jars (that I have sterilized) and put them in the freezer, too.

They are so nice to add to a lunch box, or to leave out for my own lunch as a special treat.

Dear Heloise:

Perhaps they sell bobby pins in salt-and-pepper color (for half-grayed hair), but I've not run across any!

The ones that are blonde or fully gray, show up too much in my hair.

So I use black ones that have part of the paint worn off. I've even partly scratched off the paint on some to give the salt-and-pepper affect, and I like them.

Yankees Sweep Orioles

Sparky's Two Saves Munson's Platform

BALTIMORE (AP) — "Take that, Earl Weaver," New York catcher Thurman Munson muttered. "Pick somebody else for your All-Star team."

Munson was trying to build a case for relief ace Sparky Lyle of the Yanks, who had just recorded two saves in Monday's 5-2, 2-1 twi-night doubleheader sweep over the Baltimore Orioles.

"Sparky should have been picked for the All-Star game," Munson said. "Relief pitching is an important part of baseball, and Weaver should have picked one or two of them for the American League."

But Lyle, who lowered his earned run average to 1.22 while picking up his 21st and 22nd saves with two innings of shutout relief in each game, wouldn't be drawn into any controversy.

"I didn't expect to be picked," he said. Three weeks before the All-Star game I made reservations to watch the qualifying for the Pocono 500 auto race.

"I have nothing against Earl Weaver. He doesn't believe in picking relief pitchers, so how can I ask him to go against his theory. That's like telling Jack Nicklaus to use a 5-iron when he wants to use a 6 or 7-iron."

Lyle said he tries to avoid "personal vendettas" because then "you usually go out and mess things up."

The left-hander admitted, however, that he received great satisfacton when he recorded his first save against his former teammates, the Boston Red Sox.

"I wanted the first one, real bad," he said. "But after that, it was over, and now it's just game by game."

In 4½ seasons with Boston, Lyle had a 22-17 record and 63 saves. With the Yanks this season, he has picked up two saves in a doubleheader on three separate occasions.

"I think I'm better this year," Lyle said, "because I'm pitching more. When I have four or five days rest, I'm the worst pitcher there is."

The Yanks came from behind to win both games as the Orioles dropped 2½ games behind first-place Detroit in the American League East.

New York scored five runs in the seventh inning of the opener while hitting just two balls to the outfield, and a two-run, two-out single by Bobby Murcer won the nightcap in the eighth inning.

Elsewheere in the American League, the Detroit Tigers picked up a game and a half on the Orioles, as Mickey Lolich stopped the Boston Red Sox 5-2 for his 18th victory of the season on a 7-hitter.

Dick Allen smashed two inside-the-park homers to lead the Chicago White Sox to an 8-1 rout over the Minnesota

Allen's hits were his 12th and 13th homers in July and boosted his major league leading total to 27 and enabled Stan Bahnsen to coast to his 13th win on a six-hitter.

Nolan Ryan went into the eighth inning with a no-hitter for the second straight game but the California Angels lost to Kansas City 1-0 on an unearned run in the third.

Vida Blue fired a 2-hitter to pitch the Oakland A's to a 2-0 victory over Texas and Cleveland swept a twinbill from Milwaukee, 3-2 and 1-0.

FINE DEBUT: Making his major league debut, Mets pitcher Brent Strom shows his form during game against the Montreal Expos at Shea Stadium. Strom pitched seven innings, allowing only two hits—both by Tim Foli, as Mets won 4-2. (UPI)

Mets Were Sorry, But Took the Win

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets haven't been winning that many games lately that they can afford to be choosy about which pitcher gets the victory, but they would have liked to come through for Brent Strom Monday night.

Strom, a 23-year-old lefthander, made his major league debut with six shutout innings in which he allowed only an infield hit by Tim Foli. But he needed help from Danny Frisella in the seventh as the Expos caught up with two runs and Frisella got credit for the win when Duffy Dyer tagged Steve Renko for a two-run homer in the eighth.

'Id like to have won it for the kid," Dyer said. "He threw the ball good for six innings, but then he started aiming it. He busted it inside on them but when he got a little tired the ball started tailing and that's when they began to make contact."

Actually, the Expos didn't make all that much contact. Foli opened the seventh with another single and Strom loaded the bases with one-out walks to Bob Bailey and Hal Breeden. After Ken Singleton's sacrifice fly and a passed ball by Dyer, Strom walked Ron Woods intentionally.

Frisella induced Terry Humphrey to hit a grounder to Wayne Garrett, but the third baseman booted it as the tying run crossed. Despite the bobble, Garrett just missed getting an inning-ending forceout at third.

'I thought the guy was out at third and we were out of the inning," Dyer said.

That would have given Strom the triumph. The youngster struck out seven and Dyer was asked how fast he was.

"I don't want to compare him with other pitchers," Dyer replied, "but I'd say he's sneaky fast and he's got good control."

Strom only walked one Montreal batter until the seventh.

Elsewhere in the National League, the home jinx persisted for the Cincinnati Reds, as they bowed to the San Francisso Giants, 7-2. The National League West leaders have a 57-37 record but only 22 wins at home.

Ferguson Jenkins of the Chicago Cubs got his 14th win, a 2-0 shutout over the St. Louis Cardinals. The league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates retained their seven-game lead over the Mets, as Bob Moose blanked the Philadeluhia Phillies, 2-0. Houston edged San Diego, 3-2, and Atlanta trimmed Los Angeles, 4-3.

Billy Williams of the Cubs collected four hits to boost his league-leading average.

Trevino Thwarts Newsmen After PGA Practice Stint

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (UPI) —Lee Trevino was far from being his usual pleasant self Monday after a practice round at Oakland Hills Country Club. You might even say he was testy.

Trevino played 18 holes with Arnold Palmer and Lanny Wadkins in preparation for this week's 54th annual Professional Golfers' Association championship.

"Got time for a couple questions?" he was asked.

Silence.

"How did you shoot?" More silence from the man who is usually more talkative than Martha Mitchell on a good day.

"Keep score?"

"No," Trevino replied at last. "Why should I?"

"To give us guys something to write about."

"Write about (Jack) Nicklaus' cut finger," Trevino said.

"Mr. Trevino, could I get your picture," a woman fan asked just before he entered the screened off driving area he was in such a hurry to get to. Trevino wanted to get more practice drives in.

He stopped briefly and looked back, away from his questioner.

"Go ahead honey, what are you waiting for?"

Trevino and his partner didn't make the cut last week in the National Team championship at Ligoner, Pa., and he left in a huff. He said he wanted to get to Oakland Hills for some intense practice to sharpen up his game for the PGA.

Numbered Account Takes Inaugural at Saratoga

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — Pastorale Stables' Malwak has been rated a 2-1 favorite in today's American Legion, an allowance event that highlights the program in the second day of the saratoga meeting.

The card also includes the first jumping race in New York this season, a mile-and-seven-furlong test that has drawn a field of 10 hurdlers, all with claiming tags.

In the mile-and-a-sixteenth American Legion, Brandywine Stables' Triangular and Bohemia Stables' Swift Passage have been rated as equal second choices by the oddsmakers, each at 4-1.

Numbered Account overcame an early four-length lead by Candid Catherine and came home first in the 47th running of the $25,000-added Test Stakes Monday. Light Hearted was a length behind in second, with Candid Catherine finishing third.

Jacinto Vasquez rode Numbered Account to her 11th victory in 13 lifetime starts and her second stakes victory this year. The winner covered the seven furlongs in 1:23 4-5, earning $16,515 and returning $3.20.

Thomas Moves To Chargers

By United Press International

How long is Duane Thomas destined to stay in San Diego?

That's the question many pro football observers were asking Monday after the San Diego Chargers gambled by obtaining the controversial halfback from the Dallas Cowboys for Mike Montgomery and Billy Parks less than an hour before the deadline for inter-conference trades at midnight.

Never has one player said so little and been the subject of so much speculation as Thomas was last year.

He was traded to the New England Patriots after he got into a contract dispute with the Cowboys. But he quickly was sent out of the Patriot camp after a disagreement with coach John Mazur over what kind of playing stance he should use and also refused to complete the physical exam.

He returned to the Cowboys and hardly said a word to his teammates or to the press for the rest of the season. But no one has ever doubted his abilities on the football field and he led the Cowboys to their first Super Bowl crown with his superb running.

After the season, he was arrested in Greenville, Tex. for the possession of marijuana and was given a suspended sentence. He then walked out of the Dallas training camp this year before returning to play in the Cowboys' victory over the College All-Stars. But Thomas was fined when he missed the Monday practice and meetings.

If Thomas and the Chargers can stay on good terms, there is no doubt the Chargers have picked up one of pro football's best running backs. The Cowboys obviously had come to the point where they felt a change of scenery for Thomas would be good for both the Cowboys and Thomas.

The Cowboys figure they're good enough to win without Thomas but it's an interesting point that they've never made the Super Bowl without him.

A puzzling aspect of the deal was the acquisition of Parks by the Cowboys. He is one of the bright, young receivers in pro ball and was leading the NFL with 41 catches before he suffered a broken arm last year. But since the Cowboys already have Bob Hayes, Lance Alworth and Ron Sellers, they seem to be loaded with wide receivers.

Montgomery is a second year back from Kansas State, who ran for 228 yards, caught 28 passes and completed three more for the Chargers.

While the Cowboys were unloading Thomas, their No. 1 challenger in the NFC—the Minnesota Vikings—was having problems of its own. Defensive back Charlie West walked out of camp because of a dispute over the "interpretation" of his contract.

West, Clinton Jones and Gene Washington have been involved in a dispute over contract terms. They first said they wanted to negotiate together. Then they agreed to terms individually but Jones and Washington haven't reported yet and West walked out after reporting.

District BR Title to Kingston Nine

POUGHKEEPSIE — Kingston Americans piled up eight runs in the first two innings and went on to trounce Kingston Nationals 9-1 in the District I Upstate New York State 13-Year-Old Babe Ruth Tournament finals.

The Americans now move into the state championship tournament starting Aug. 11 at Riverview Field. Finals are scheduled Aug. 13.

In semi-final games, Kingston Nationals nipped Saugerties 2-1, behind the 2-hit pitching of Marc Chapman, and the Americans blanked Beacon 1-0 on Mike McWeeney's 5-hitter.

In the finals, Al Johnson limited the Americans to two hits and pitched shutout ball after the second inning. The winners had only five hits off Marco Tiano and Craig Metje but had the benefit of eight walks. Dave Loeffler tripled for the Americans.

Nationals needed nine innings to subdue Saugerties and Steve Van Tassel. Craig Metje led off with a single. On David McMahon's single, the centerfielder let the ball get by him and the outfield relay also got by the third baseman, as Metje slid into home plate with the winning run ahead of the pursuing Van Tassel, who had backed up the play.

Chapman fanned seven and survived seven walks. Van Tassel had 10 strikeouts and walked two. Tim Cole rapped two singles for Saugerties and Grogan, Turck and McMahon singled twice for the Nationals.

Kingston Americans scored out, Pete Gallagher singled to the winning run in the first left and stole second. Loeffler inning against Beacon. With one fanned for the second out but Gallagher scored when the opposing pitcher fumbled McWeeney's topped roller.

TRICK STUFF: Eddie Feigner, fabled pitcher of the famous King and His Court 4-man softball team, shows off one of the trick pitches he'll use against the Mid-Hudson Valley Stars in an exhibition game Wednesday at 8 o'clock at Dietz Stadium.

Billy Costello and Bill Stokes have been named to pitch for the local squad.

Feigner's antics include a flock of tricks, ranging from behind-the-back pitching to pitching blind-folded. The Court's routine of comedy remarks, dialogue and topnotch ball have made them international favorites. Since the team was founded in 1946 by Eddie Feigner the team has thrilled and delighted millions of fans on three continents and in 49 states.

Junior Soccer Leaders Keep Rolling Along

KINGSTON — After two goals within the first minute of play, Franz House of Beauty and the Dolphins settled down to a tough Junior Soccer League match Sunday that saw the Beauticians emerge with a 4-1 victory and cling to second place in the league's Metropolitan Division.

Other games on the full card saw Oehler's Mountain Lodge post its first triumph of the season after five defeats by stopping winless Dirk's Meat Market 1-0, as Courts Restaurant rolled over the Cosmos 8-0 and Deitz Auto Supply jolted Johnny On the Spot 3-1.

Junior Division leader Masons racked up a 5-0 decision over Frank's and Roberto's, and the Woodside Restaurant moved into a second place tie with a 2-0 shutout of Jo-Al's.

With seconds gone on the clock, Yung King dumped one in the nets to boost the Dolphins into the lead. Elation was brief, however, as Franz's Chris Zanos popped his first of two for the day to knot the score seconds later.

Pete Boyd found the range for a 2-1 Franz halftime lead, and Zanos came back after the intermission with his second. Hernando Rongarcio matched the feat to ice Franz's fourth victory of the season.

The battle of cellar clubs was decided in the seventh minute of the second half. Oehler's Jed Werbalowsky found the range after which the evenly matched teams struggled scorelessly until the end. A poor kick on a penalty shot spoiled the Meat Men's best chance to get even.

Johnny Robinson continued his incredible one-man show, scoring four goals as Court's dominated yet another opponent. Robinson has over half the team's 30 scores to his credit while the Court's goal has yet to be penetrated. Robinson banged two in each half as the winners coasted to their sixth straight.

A Dave Mendez breakaway equalized matters for Deitz at 1-1 to start the second half. Ken St. John ripped a 25-yarder to send the suppliers in front for good with Steve Davis netting the clincher as the Metropolitan leaders upped their slate to 5-1-1.

Emil Jordan, the scoring leader in the Junior Division, paced Masons fourth consecutive win with three goals, two in the first half. Eric Schriner accounted for the other pair while the Masons defense remained unscathed.

James Decker and John Ohan hit for Woodside in separate halves as the Rhinebeck team became the third in the division to hold a 2-2 record. Jo-Al's leads the trio with an 8-2 edge in goals followed by Woodside and Frank's and Roberto's.

The Junior loop played a pair on Wednesday night with Frank's and Roberto's handing Oscar's Tapers their fourth loss, 2-1, and the Masons topping Woodside 2-0.

Woman Wins Race

AUBURN, Calif. (AP) — A Reno, Nev., housewife won the world's longest horse race for the third consecutive year Sunday, making the 100-mile trek in 12 hours and 42 minutes.

Donna Fitzgerald rode an Arabian gelding in the race, which began Saturday at 5 a.m. in Squaw Valley and concluded at the Auburn Fairgrounds. Nine minutes behind was Hal Hall of Auburn.

There were only 93 finishers out of the starting field of 171 horsemen. Eva Taylor, of Port Townsend, Wash., rode an eight-year-old mule named Hugo to a 20th place finish.

The race, officially titled the 100 Mile One Day Trail Ride, is sponsored by the Western States Trail Ride Association.

BOND AND CAPITAL NOTE ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AUTHORIZING THE PURCHASE OF EQUIPMENT BY THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS OF SAID CITY, STATING THE ESTIMATED TOTAL MAXIMUM COST THEREOF TO BE THE SUM OF $56,903.00 AND APPROPRIATING SAID AMOUNT THEREFOR, AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $2,903.00 CAPITAL NOTES TO PROVIDE THE DOWN PAYMENT AND $54,000.00 SERIAL BONDS OF SAID CITY TO FINANCE SAID APPROPRIATION.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COMMON COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, IN THE COUNTY OF ULSTER, NEW YORK (by the favorable vote of not less than two-thirds of all the members of said Council) AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. The City of Kingston in the County of Ulster, New York, is hereby authorized to purchase one (1) Athey self-propelled material loader, two (2) International dump trucks for use of the Department of Public Works of the City of Kingston. The estimated maximum cost of said specific object or purpose, including preliminary costs and costs incidental thereto and the financing thereof is $56,903.00 and the said amount is hereby appropriated therefor. The plan of financing includes the issuance by the said City of Kingston of $2,903.00 in capital notes of said City to provide the downpayment and the balance of $54,000.00 by serial bonds of the said City and the levy of a tax upon all the taxable real property in the City of Kingston to pay the principal of and interest on said bonds as the same shall become due and payable.

SECTION 2. Pursuant to the provisions of the Local Finance Law constituting Chapter 33-a of the Consolidated Laws of the State of New York, capital notes in the principal amount of $2,903.00 and serial bonds in the principal amount of $54,000.00 of the City of Kingston are hereby authorized to be issued to finance the cost of said specific object or purpose.

SECTION 3. The following additional matters are hereby determined and declared:

(a) The period of probable usefulness of the specific object or purpose for which the notes and bonds authorized pursuant to this ordinance are to be issued within the limitations of Section 11.00, Subdivision 28 of said Local Finance Law is ten (10) years.

(b) Current funds are required to be provided prior to the issuance of the serial bonds herein authorized or any bond anticipation notes issued in anticipation of said bonds and such current funds will be provided by the issuance of the $2,903.00 in capital notes herein authorized. The City Treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to set aside the proceedings of the sale of said capital notes and to apply the same solely to said specific object or purpose.

SECTION 4. Each of the notes and bonds authorized by this ordinance and any bond anticipation notes issued in anticipation of the sale of such bonds, shall contain the recital of validity prescribed by Section 52.00 of the Local Finance Law and said notes and bonds and any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds shall be general obligations of the City of Kingston, payable as to both principal and interest by a general tax upon all the taxable real property within the City without limitation as to rate or amount. The faith and credit of the City are hereby irrevocably pledged to the punctual payment of the principal and interest on said notes and bonds and provisions shall be made annually in the budget of the City by appropriation for

(a) The amortization and redemption of the bonds to mature in such year, and

(b) The payment of interest to be due and payable in such year.

SECTION 5. Subject to the provisions of this ordinance and of said Local Finance Law and pursuant to the provisions of Section 30.00 relative to the authorization of the issuance of bond anticipation notes and of Sections 50.00 to 60.00 of said Law, the powers and duties of the Common Council relative to prescribing the terms, form and contents and as to the sale and issuance of the notes and bonds herein authorized and of any bond anticipation notes authorized and issued in anticipation of said bonds and the renewals thereof are hereby delegated to the City Treasurer, Chief Fiscal Officer of said City.

SECTION 6 It is further stated that the validity of the notes and bonds authorized by this ordinance and of notes issued in anticipation of said bonds may be contested only if:

(a) Such obligations are authorized for an object or purpose for which the City is not authorized to expend money; or

(b) The provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of the publication of such ordinance are not substantially complied with; and

(c) An action, suit or proceedings contesting such validity must commence within twenty (20) days after the date of such publication; or

(d) Such obligations are authorized in violation of the provisions of the Constitution.

SECTION 7. This ordinance which takes effect immediately, shall be published in full, after approval by the Mayor, in The Daily Freeman and in the Kingstonian, the official newspapers of the City, together with a notice substantially in the form as prescribed by Section 81.00 of the Local Finance Law.

Submitted to the Mayor by the City Clerk this 20th day of July, 1972.

LOUIS F. DeCICCO, City Clerk
Approved by the May this 20th day of July, 1972.

BOND ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AUTHORIZING THE RECONSTRUCTION AND RESURFACING OF CERTAIN CITY STREETS OR PORTIONS THEREOF IN SAID CITY, STATING THE ESTIMATED TOTAL COST THEREOF IS $119,180.00 OF WHICH TOTAL SUM THERE HAS BEEN APPROPRIATED THE SUM OF $50,000.00 AS THE DOWN PAYMENT, THEREFOR AND AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $69,180.00 SERIAL BONDS OF SAID CITY TO FINANCE THE BALANCE OF SAID APPROPRIATION:

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COMMON COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, IN THE COUNTY OF ULSTER, NEW YORK (by the favorable vote of not less than two-thirds of all the members of said Council) AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. The City of Kingston, in the County of Ulster, New York, is hereby authorized to reconstruct and resurface the following City streets or portions thereof, in said City of Kingston, using flexible pavements other than sand and gravel, water bound macadam or penetration process with single surface treatment or with penetration macadam or plant mix bottom course and heavy duty bituminous concrete wearing surface, including curbs, gutters, drainage, landscaping, grading and improving the rights of way and improvements in connection herewith:

a. Dunneman Avenue at an estimated cost of $15,500.00
b. Lounsbury Place at an estimated cost of $22,700.00
c. Pettit Avenue at an estimated cost of $6,200.00
d. St. James Street (From Broadwey to Clinton Avenue) at an estimated cost of $29,500.00
e. Kiersted Avenue at an estimated cost of $12,130.00
f. Deyo Street at an estimated cost of $5,800.00
g. Downs Street Extension at an estimated cost of $1,900.00
h. Larch Street at an estimated cost of $5,200.00.
i. Lindsley Avenue (From Delaware Avenue North to End) at an estimated cost of $4,850.00
J. Burnett Street at an estimated cost of $4,000.00
k. Peter Street at an estimated cost of $1,200.00
l. Merelina Avenue (From Boulder Avenue to Arcadia, Bailey School entrance) at an estimated cost of $10,200.00

The estimated total cost of reconstructing and resurfacing all of said streets or portions thereof, being all the items of a single specific object or purpose, including preliminary costs and costs incidental thereto and the financing thereof is $119,180.00, of which the sum of $50,000.00 has been duly appropriated, leaving a balance of $69,180.00 which said sum is further appropriated therefor. The plan of financing includes the application of the said sum of $50,000.00 heretofore duly appropriated for such purpose and to constitute the down payment required by law and the further sum of $69,180.00 in serial bonds to finance the balance thereof and the levy of a tax upon all the taxable real property in said City to pay the principal of said bonds and the interest thereon.

SECTION 2. Pursuant to the provisions of the Local Finance Law, constituting Chapter 33-a of the Consolidated Laws of the State of New York, serial bonds in the principal amount of $69,180.00 of the City of Kingston are hereby authorized to be issued to finance a portion of the cost of said items of such specific object or purpose.

SECTION 3. The following additional matters are hereby determined and stated:

(a) The period of probable usefulness of each item of said specific object or purpose for which the bonds authorized by this ordinance are to be issued within the limitations of Section 11.00 a, subd. 20 of said Local Finance Law, is ten (10) years.

(b) Current funds are required by said law to be provided as a down payment prior to the issuance of the bonds herein authorized or of any notes in anticipation of the sale of said bonds and such current funds have been made available in the appropriation of $50,000.00 in the 1972 Budget of the City of Kingston. The City Treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to set aside said monies, so appropriated and to apply the same solely to the said specific object or purpose described in Section 1 hereof.

SECTION 4. Each of the bonds authorized by this Ordinance and any bond anticipation notes issued in anticipation of the sale of such bonds shall contain the ricital of validity prescribed by Section 52.00 of said Law and said bonds and any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds, shall be general obligations of the City, and the City hereby irrevocably pledges its faith and credit to the punctual payment of the principal thereof and the interest thereon and there shall be raised annually by tax on all the taxable real property in the City, a sum sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on said bonds as the same shall become due and payable.

SECTION 5. Subject to the provisions of this Ordinance and of said Local Finance Law and pursuant to the provisions of Section 30.00 relative to the authorization of the issuance of bond anticipation notes and of Section 50.00 and Sections 56.00 to 60.00 of said Law, the powers and duties of the Common Council relative to prescribing the terms, form and contents and as to the sale and issuance of the bonds, are hereby delegated to the City Treasurer, chief fiscal officer of the City.

SECTION 6. It is further stated that the validity of the bonds authorized by this ordinance, and of any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds, may be contested only if:

(a) Such obligations are authorized for an object or purpose for which the City is not authorized to expend money, or

(b) the provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of the publication of such ordinance, are not substantially complied with, and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity, is commenced within twenty days after the date of such publication.

(c) such obligations are authorized in violation of the provisions of the constitution.

SECTION 7. This Ordinance which takes effect immediately shall be published, in full, after approval by the Mayor, in The Daily Freeman and in the Kingstonian, the official newspapers of the City together with a notice substantially the form as prescribed by Section 81.00 of the Local Finance Law.

Submitted to the Mayor by the City Clerk this 11th day of July, 1972.

Your Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, AUG. 2, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a day and evening to use much caution, for most everyone is in an argumentative frame of mind and is apt to state strong opinions contrary to those of others and to lose the favor of those able to be of greatest helpfulness. Take care of your health. Anger can stir up poisons in your system now.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Take it in stride if you are not able to have the recreation you want today, for one reason or another. Forget temper tantrums. You have a good idea, but it can be pooh-poohed by one who is too stingy with money.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Use diplomacy with everyone today, especially at home where tempers are apt to be pretty touchy. Get busy early at important duties, even though you want to get into personal affairs. Think.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Exercising great care in motion is most important now, or there could be serious trouble, cost. Control that temptation to be extravagant. Evening can be a happy one with your mate.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Suggestions made by good pals should be listened to carefully today, tonight. One who is idealistic can be particularly helpful to you. Steer clear of one who has an eye on your assets.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Do nothing that can bring forth criticism in the business world; this is particularly true where your reputation is concerned. Do not disagree so much when handling that civic affair. Cooperation is the right key.

VIRGO (aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get out to places where you can come in contact with people who reason and are of a very high moral character. Don't fuss over petty affairs. Get right ideas for travel or advancement from clever persons.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can now go to that fine friend for the advice you want and need and get it, as well as data you have long wanted. There are several avenues open to you for greater success. A greater happiness with mate depends on your attitude.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Make sure you remain neutral during an argument between associate and an official, or you become the shipping boy. Take care of own personal affairs and all is fine for you. Out to some charming social affair in p.m.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You want to be blunt with one you feel is not doing you right, but you had better be diplomatic for best results. Study new ideas as well and get the information you need from proper sources. Think.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are able to put advice that experts have given you to use now with excellent results, so do so before going off to fun places. Buy a thoughtful gift for the one you love. Reach a fine understanding.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have committed yourself to do a big favor for another, but be sure you know exactly what is expected before you go to all that trouble. Handle those important matters well at home, also.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Plan how to gain the favor of an associate and show you are most efficient at your work. Stop fussing and fretting over what you can do nothing about. Data is important now, so get it. Early to bed tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those young people with a very strong willpower, who needs most careful handling early in life in order to prevent a tempermental attitude and personality from developing. Encouragement is necessary here for best results. There is much ability to whittle the visionary down to a practical level and thereby make a real fortune during the lifetime. Give religious training early. Sports are good.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

CAR CROWD: (Q.) My parents let me use the car when I need it. Notice I said "need." That doesn't mean every time I want it. I need it for sports events, school affairs and sometimes for shopping.

I got my driver's license last winter. At that time I invited two of my girl friends to go to a basketball game with me. I didn't have a date and I sort of needed someone to go along.

A few other times I asked a girl or two to go some place with me. But before I knew it girls were asking me. They still are. Sometimes they find a way to get there, then ask me to bring them home. They say they are stranded, so I can't say no.

Coming home from a baseball game last night, I had eight girl riders. With me driving that meant nine girls in the car. How can I keep driving and keep my friends too?

—Free Taxi Driver in Texas

(A.) Continue to invite friends you want to go places with you. But have a private talk with each girl who makes a habit of asking you for rides. Tell her you have as many requests it has become dangerous for you to drive (a car with nine girls in it is dangerous).

Tell her that you must say no except in real emergencies. Warn her that a girl who can get a ride to a baseball game can arrange for a ride home.

Your real friends will understand your problem. Those who just go with you for the ride don't matter.

FLIPPY: (Q.) I mean John and I are really flippy for each other. He is just barely 18 and I am nearly 15. My aunt says he is not too old for me but my mother says he is. What do you think?

—Jeanie in Maine

(A.) There is at least three years' differences in your ages, which is quite a bit. But the difference was the same before you two got "flippy" about each other.

That was the time for your mother to say no. Now it is better for John to see you in the open, at home, with your mother's knowledge and supervision, than for you to be sneaking around somewhere to see him. Show this to your mother.

Show Beat

Ever since Sea Hunt, Lloyd Bridges has been connected in the public and professional mind with the water. Since he likes the sea, that's O.K. with him.

"I like to be part of what my image apparently is," he says. "My main interest is acting, of course, but I do love the sea and learning about the sea. And it's nice to be able to do both—and get paid."

He's heading seaward again for several projects. First, he'll do six specials about sharks for San Diego's Sea World. They'll film off San Diego, in shark country, and Bridges says, "I hope they give me a lot of protection—if they want to finish the series they'd better."

Then he'll do 13 more shows for his syndicaed series, Water World. This looks at all forms of water—from rivers and lakes to the big oceans—and Bridges has shot in everything from canoes to yachts.

And everywhere he's gone—around Cape Cod, the Bahamas, Key West, the Tennessee River, Hawaii—he's had a chance to dive, since much footage is underwater.

When they did the Key West footage, Lloyd's two acting sons, Beau and Jeff, were with him.

"We did it for a lark," he says. "They both love it as much as I do. Only problem was we didn't have enough time."

Olympic Game Problems

NEW YORK (AP) — Time — as in prime — is always uppermost in the minds of television industry heads, but it doesn't usually cause the problem posed by the upcoming Olympic Games in Munich.

Consider it: If an American turns in a gold medal performance at 2 p.m. on the field, Californians would have to be awake at 5 a.m. to see it and New Yorkers might chance being late for work because of watching it at 8 a.m.

Obviously, neither hour would attract many viewers.

In fact, almost all the events will be contested at times inconvenient to American audiences.

The answer apparently is going to be a not-so-instant replay system.

For example: The 100-meter race, which normally draws a great deal of worldwide interest, is scheduled to be run at 11 a.m. Munich time.

ABC will be handling American coverage. Because live transmission would be seen in the United States between 2 a.m. and 5 a.m. the race and subsequent interviews with participants will be recorded and edited onto a master tape.

The master tape will be transmitted via satellite to the network's New York studios for broadcast between 7 p.m. and 10 p.m.

Because of the speed of electronic editing, the tapes can be updated as new material is bounced off the satellite.

In similar fashion, each of 100 countries will tailor its Olympic coverage to the time and interests of its native audience—a combined effort that is expected to reach the greatest television audience in history. The games run from Aug. 26 to Sept. 10.

Industry experts are saying the total television audience may approach the one billion mark. About 300 million throughout the world were video witnesses to the first moon landing in 1969.

German television authorities estimate that 95 per cent of all televised events will be viewed via tapes.

More than 100 color television cameras and 91 color video recorders, including the instant replay equipment, have been assigned to the Olympics.

According to Deutches Olympisches Zentrum (DOZ), the total value of all television equipment assembled for the games will exceed $30 million.

Some 2,500 television technicians, announcers and officials will be mobilized to operate this big battery of equipment. This represents about one television employe for every athlete.

Cynthia Lowry is on vacation.

Opening lead—♦ 8

We aren't going to assess the blame for the slightly unsound slam contract reached by North and South. Why should we? South made it!

South won the trump lead and promptly led his eight of spades. This didn't fool West in the slightest. He had been around for a long time and new that this immediate spade lead almost surely indicated a singleton. Otherwise, South would not have played it right away. So West went right up with his ace of spades. He got his spade trick all right but he also gave South the slam. Later on South was able to discard two clubs on dummy's king and queen of spades and wind up with the 12 tricks he needed.

If West had not suffered from "grasshopper disease" he would simply have covered the eight of spades with his nine and not rushed to take his ace.

The strange thing about this hand is that if South did hold more than one spade there would be no way to beat the slam. South would have one less club or heart. After West ducked the first spade, South would return to his hand; drawing trumps; lead a second spade and get the same two spade tricks he got when the ace was played the first time.

POSSIBLE REPLACEMENTS— Four names being mentioned as possible replacement for Sen. Thomas Eagleton as the Democratic vice presidential candidate are (L-R): Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, former National Democratic Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien, Gov. Patrick Lucey of Wisconsin, and former Peace Corps director Sargent Shriver. (UPI Telephoto)

In Committee's Hands

Replacement Task

WASHINGTON (AP) — Echoes of once-settled procedural arguments loom before the Democratic National Committee as it sets out to choose a replacement for Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton as the vice-presidential nominee.

The solution, too, probably will have a familiar ring with the committee expected to ratify the choice made known by presidential candidate George McGovern.

Prior to the party's national convention, arguments droned on for days as competing delegations fought for the right to be seated, but in most disputes, McGovern's wishes prevailed.

Now, as the committee prepared to replay the convention in miniature, new rules governing selection of committee members have led to the same sort of seating challenges.

Adding to the sense of deja vu, the number of members eligible to vote has surfaced as a key question in the committee as it was at one point during the convention.

Eagleton's withdrawal Monday night, an unprecedented move prompted by the pressure stemming from his disclosure of psychiatric treatment on three occasions between 1960 and 1966, left the task of filling out the ticket to the revamped and somewhat confused national committee.

The complications arise from the new national committee structure formulated by the convention last month in Miami Beach. Yet this new-style committee must function under earlier rules tailored to the old committee.

Convention rules provide that in the event of a vacancy, the national committee is authorized to select the replacement "by a majority of the total number of votes provided at the convention."

This means that representatives of each state would cast proxy votes to total 3,016, same as the convention total.

But the new formula adds a lot of extra members to a committee once composed of one man and one woman from each state, territory and the District of Columbia.

About one-third of the new members haven't been elected yet, and staff members say that could take another two weeks.

As in the case of convention delegations, some slates of committee members are being challenged by defeated rivals, in New York, Ohio and Illinois among others.

Just as at the convention, all of the challenges must be settled before the proxy convention can replace Eagleton.

The new committee has at least four members from each state—a committeeman, committeewoman, state party chairman and next highest ranking officer of the opposite sex.

There are additional delegates apportioned among the states to reflect population and party strength, ranging from four for smaller states, to 12 each for New York and California.

Additionally, the committee includes three governors representing the Democratic Governors Conference, and four members of Congress representing the Senate and House.

Jets Attack Haiphong Harbor

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy jets attacked a shipyard in Haiphong harbor for the first time in the war Monday and left it in flames, the U.S. Command announced today.

The target was the Haiphong Shipyard No. 3 on the southwestern edge of North Vietnam's chief port. Pilots from the carrier Saratoga said they left three large, sutained fires in the yard, which builds and repairs shallow-draft vessels of various sizes.

The U.S. Command said the strikes were not near the deep-draft ships in the port, and "there were no foreign vessels" in the area that was bombed.

Spokesmen said 27 foreign ships were still in Haiphong's deepwater channels, trapped by the U.S. mine field planted last May 9.

Overcast skies reduced the U.S. strikes Monday to a little more than 200 raids across North Vietnam, compared to more than 300 the day before. The U.S. Command reported that its planes also destroyed or damaged 12 water supply craft, 12 trucks, eight bridges, 13 storage areas and warehouses and two fuel pipelines.

In South Vietnam, Communist forces made their heaviest shelling attack of the year so far against a U.S. installation, pouring more than 70 rockets into the Bien Hoa Air Base 15 miles northeast of Saigon.

One American was killed, 15 were wounded, and 13 others were injured while trying to take cover, the U.S. Command said. The South Vietnamese said 17 Vietnamese were wounded.

The last American combat forces providing security in the Bien Hoa area were phased out a week ago as part of President Nixon's troop withdrawal program, and the South Vietnamese took over their patrols of outlying areas to prevent enemy troops from getting within rocket and mortar range.

Meanwhile, U.S. B52 heavy bombers carried out 100 more strikes, and more than half of them were in the northern provinces of South Vietnam around Quang Tri City and Hue. A few of the bombers attacked in North Vietnam, just above the demilitarized zone.

South Vietnamese forces on the northern edges of Quang Tri City and on the western flanks of Hue 30 miles to the south came under heavy artillery and mortar bombardment, the Saigon command said. It said casualties were light.

President Nguyen Van Thieu predicted that North Vietnam before the U.S. presidential election would launch a new military offensive around Quang Tri and Hue, coupled with a "political offensive" in Saigon.

He also called on the United States to continue the bombing of the North, saying, "If we want to end this war, we must continue to destroy all of North Vietnam's military installations and economic power. Then the North Vietnamese people will revolt against their government. . . ."

Ellender...Eulogy and Burial

HOUMA, La. (UPI)—Sen. Allen J. Ellender, eulogized as a simple, candid man who "shed his blessings upon millions of his fellow men," was buried Monday in a family gravesite near his native Louisiana Cajun country home.

President and Mrs. Nixon led the mourners, which included more than 100 Washington officials. Others were Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern.

Ellender, 81, who was the Senate's oldest member and its president pro tem, died Thursday night of a heart attack. His death provoked speculation about his successor in the Senate.

Several of Louisiana Gov. Edwin Edwards' closest friends predict the governor will appoint his wife to fill the remainder of Ellender's term. Sources close to the governor said he might make the announcement later today.

At the gravesite, Archbishop Philip M. Hannan of New Orleans eulogized Ellender as a man who was passionately devoted to the dignity and duties of the U.S. Senate.

Thousands of mourners lined the streets in Houma where political posters with the smiling face of the late senator asking voters to "Re-elect Ellender" still hung from walls in the small town. Ellender died 23 days before the primary election that could have returned him to the Senate for an unprecedented seventh term.

He served 36 years in the Senate, and had run a hard campaign during most of July because his 40-year-old opponent was making his old age an issue.

"If the good Lord spares me as I know He will, Ellender used to say, "then when I finish my next term, I will have served longer than any man in the history of the U.S. Senate."

Pennsylvania Court Rules Moose Must Serve Blacks

PHILADELPHI A (AP) — Pennsylvania's Supreme Court says a Moose Lodge must serve blacks if it allows nomember in.

In a unanimous opinion, the court said Monday that when Moose Lodge 107 of Harrisburg, Pa., "made its facilities available to nonmembers" it could no longer discriminate against nonwhites.

Last month the U.S. Supreme Court, by a 5-3 vote, held that the lodge had not violated the Constitution when it denied service to state Rep. K. Leroy Irvis of Pittsburgh because of his race. Irvis, a black, had been invited to the club by four white friends.

The nation's high court noted that the Moose is a private club, not publicly funded and admits only members and their guests.

In a concurring opinion in Monday's ruling, Chief Justice Benjamin R. Jones said the issue raised before the Pennsylvania court was 'entirely different than the issue determined by the United States Supreme Court . . . .

"Since the lodge for some years has opened its dining room and bar facilities to public organizations for banquets and for dinners and has made the premises of the lodge available to the public organizations without discrimination because of race or color, the lodge has diminished its status as a purely private club and has become a 'place of public accommodation,'" the opinion said.

Jail Fire Kills Four

STUART, Fla. (AP) — Four youthful inmates were killed when fire swept through a maximum security cellblock at Martin County Jail late Monday night, trapping the victims inside their locked cells, authorities reported today.

Sheriff Robert L. Crowder said preliminary investigation indicated that three of the victims apparently set magazines and mattresses ablaze, then screamed for help when the fire raged out of control.

The fourth victim, the only other prisoner in the upstairs cellblock, was confined in an adjacent cell, the sheriff said.

Crowder identified only one of the dead inmates, Robert Lasset, age 19 or 20, of Indiantown, Fla. Identity of the other three victims was withheld pending notification of relatives. All victims were in their late teens or early 20s, the sheriff said.

Lasset had been jailed on forgery charges, Crowder said. The sheriff said another victim was charged with auto theft and a third was serving a year's sentence for attempted forgery. The fourth inmate was awaiting transfer to Raiford State Prison after being convicted of second degree murder, he said.

Crowder said smoke from the blaze prevented a jailer from reaching an electrical switch which could have opened the doors in the second floor cellblock.
